CONGRESS STARTS ON HOME STRETCH

Prospects Brighter for Completion of Programme.

THE ANTI-TRUST DEBATE

Senate Will Begin Work on Anti-Trust Measures This Morning While House Wrestles With Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill.

Washington, June 14.—With the tolls exemption repeal bill out of the way at last, Congress will settle down this week to grind out the legislation that must be disposed of before the present session ends. The House will give its atention to the sundry civil appropriation bill, the biggest of the supply measures, and Senate leaders expect to begin the anti-trust debate.

The trust discussion probably will not be so spectacular as that over the tolls bill but unless many senators are poor prophets, it bids fair to equal any other debate for a long time. The Federal Trade Commission bill, the first of the anti-trust measures, is now on the Senate calendar and Senator Newlands, chairman of the Inter-State Commerce committee, which reported the bill, has announced his intention of making it the unfinished business within a few days. The current business before the Senate is the legislative appropriation bill. It practically will be completed tomorrow and Mr. Newlands may then seek to bring up the commission bill. Although he expressed confidence that its passage need not take any great length of time, on its heels is to come a railway securities bill, which is certain to add to the discussion and the prospects for debate of less than six weeks are not good.

Interested in Adjournment.

Senate leaders are interested in the plan for adjournment next month accredited to Majority Leader Underwood, of the House, which would enable Congress to quit as soon as the appropriation bills are passed. Their interest, however, does not indicate that they will adopt it. There is little doubt that some sort of trust legislation will be put through the Senate beore an adjournment is taken. Even the proposal that a special session be called in November to take up such legislation is not likely to meet the views of the Senate and the President, although most senators are anxious to get away and many believe that trust legislation at this time is not good for business or good for politicians.

With a legislative programme right well outlined the Senate is not troubling itself with much other legislation. The appropriation bills and the trust bills probably will serve to keep that branch busy for as long as it is orced to stay in Washington. Other measures may be brought in from time totime, but the understanding seems to be fally definite that these subjects shall come first.

Majority Leader Underwood leaves tomorrow for Charlottesville, Va., where as the retiring president of the University of Virginia alumni he will participate in the commencement ceremonies. Upon his return to Washington Wednesday, he expects to resume his efforts to ge the support of senators for his plan for a July adjournment following the disposition of all appropriation bills. The primaries will be held in some of the States within a month and the representatives of those States want to be home.

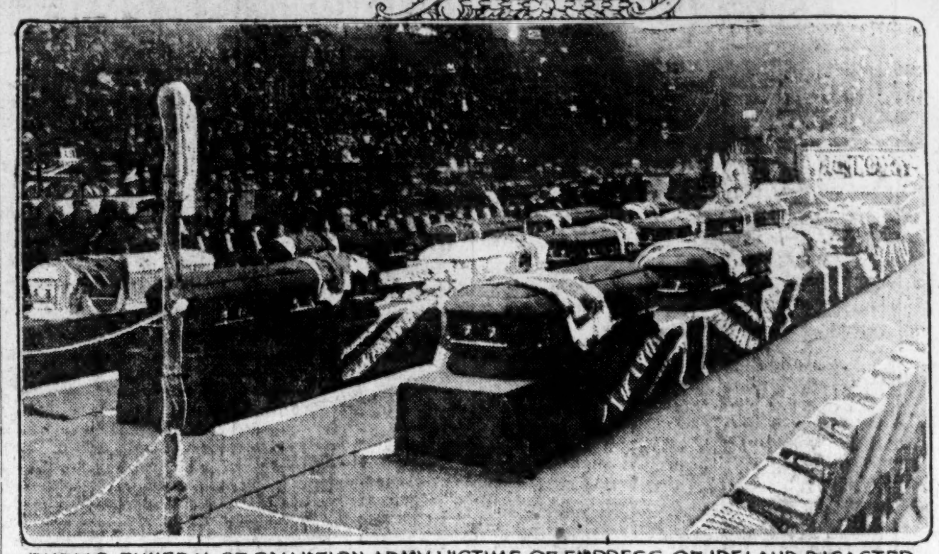
Conference W ithRoosevelt.

The Progressives in the House are looking forward to a conference soon between former President Roosevelt and leading members of the Progressive party including Progressives in Congress. One of the main subjects of discussion at that conference will be thenomination of a Progressive candidate for governor of New York, and Mr. Roosevelt will be urged to carry the standard in New York himself, as well as to be the candidate for President in 1916. Mr. Roosevelt has remained silent on the question, in his communication with Progressive members, and there is a division of opinion among the Progressives as to urging him to become a gubernatorial nominee now.

All three parties are counting upon sending the strongest array of speakers possible to Maine, where the first election will be held in September. The Republicans say they are confident, the Democrats express equal satisfaction and the Progressives said the situation never looked brighter to them than it does there.

While some of the House leaders are pressing early adjournment the sponsors for big pending measures are insisting upon legislation. The general dam bill and the five conservation bills are slated to follow the sundry civil appropriation bill, which may occupy all of this week and run over into the next. The dam bill is expected to take several days because of opposition that is crystallizinig. The bill provides that no dam shall be built upon a navigable stream without Federal consent; that every dam constructed must be operated under regulation of public utilities or other State commissions; that if the rates and practices of the power companies are not reasonable and proper the Secretary of War will regulate them and that after fifty years the Federal government shall have the right to take over any of the projects upon one year's notice and fair valuation of the property.

PUBLIC FUNERAL FOR SALVATION ARMY VICTIMS OF THE EMPRESS OF IRELAND



PUBLIC FUNERAL OF SALVATION ARMY VICTIMS OF EMPRESS OF IRELAND DISASTER

A public funeral and memorial service was held in the Arena, Toronto, Canada, for the Salvation Army members who were lost in the Empress of Ireland disaster in the St. Lawrince river. The picture shows the coffins in the center of the floor with a portion of the thousands whose hearts were heavy with grief over the great loss. Only a few bodies of the Salvationists lost were recovered, the others probably being in the ship at the bottom of the river. The Army ssustained a heavy loss, as hundreds of them were on the ship on their way to the world's congress now in session in London.

FLETCHER TO BE HIGHLY HONORED

Dauntless Admiral to Head Atlantic Fleet

REACHES HIGHEST GOAL

His Wonderful Display of Ability and Judgment in Taking and Governing of Vera Cruz Has Lots to Do With Order.

Washington, June 14.—Command of the great Atlantic fleet, goal of every American officer's ambition, is to be the reward of Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher for his work in Mexican waters.

Secretary Daniels announced tonight that he will recommend Admiral Fletcher for commander-in-chief of the fleet, to succeed Rear Admiral Badger when the latter completes his tour of service within the next few weeks.

Some of the navy's higher officers, outrank him, but the Secretary holds that the conspicuously masterful conduct of Admarl Fletcher at Vera Cruz entitles him to special recognition. Moreover, if Congress passes the pending bill creating the rang of vice admiral Admiral Fletcher will be among the first to be advanced to that grade.

A Navy Department statement tonight said:

"Since Admiral Fletcher took the Atlantic fleet to Mexican waters he has had the whole situation well in hand and his services there has added to his reputation as one of the first men of the American navy.

Admiral, Statesman, Diplomat.

"Admiral Fletcher will be promoted from the command of the first division of the Atlantic fleet. He has been in Mexico since the presence of American ships in those waters was first called for and his command of the situation during the whole time he has been in charge has been masterful. He proved himself not only a great admiral but a statesman and diplomat as well. His services commended themselves not only to the Secretary but the President.

"Both in the taking of Vera Cruz and in the administration of the city government afterward Admiral Fletcher showed himself a man of the highest abilities. President Wilson seized the opportunity when presenting diplomas to the Annapolis graduates at their recent commencement, to hold up Admiral Fletcher as a pattern, saying in part:

"'Is not that something to be proud of that you know how to use force like men of conscience and like gentlemen, serving your fellowman and not trying to overcome? Like that gallant gentleman who has so long borne the heat and perplexities and distresses of the situation in Vera Cruz—Admiral Fletcher. I mention him because his services there has been longer and much of the early perplexities fell upon him.'

"I have been in almost daily communication with Admiral Fletcher. I know that he is a man with a touch of statesmanship about him and he has grown bigger in my eye each day as I have read his dispatches for he has sought always to serve the thing he was trying to do in the temper that we all recognize and love to believe is typically American."

The Secretary has no power to promote naval officers for meritorious services. This can be done only by Congress. But the change in the command of the Atlantic fleet falling due about this time, the Secretary thought it well to make his recommendation to the President to promote Admiral Fletcher.

"The recommendation of promotion of Admiral Fletcher is made in part for his invaluable services in exico as well as for his record in the line."

FEDERALS MAKE A DESPERATE STAND

Rebel Forces Twice Repulsed With Heavy Losses.

CASUALTIES ARE HEAVY

Carranza Refuses to Talk As To Power Given His Representatives Now Said To Be En Route to Niagara Falls, Ontario

Saltillo, Mex., June 14.—Via Laredo, Texas, June 14. Zacatecas is making a desperate resistence to General Natera and although the Constitutionalists have captured Guadaloupe, Mercedes and Grilla, subrubs of the town, they were repulsed twice with heavy loss at the fortified hill of LaBuffa, which is one of the strongest defenses of the town.

General Natera reported to General Carranza that his charges at LaBuffa were met with a withering artillery fire from the Federal defences which he said were extremely strong, but that his men were in fine condition and spirits and were not discouraged at the check given them by the Federal stronghold.

He reported that the casualties on both sides were extremely heavy. He now is awaiting the arrival of reinforcements sent him from Torreon by General Villa which are being delayed by heavy rains and washouts along the national railways.

General Cabriel Hernandez reported today under date June 12th that he had captured Xicotonalt, Huejutla, Valles, Tamiahua, Amatlan and other small towns in Hidalgo, capturing many arms and much ammunition with two field pieces.

Cuernava was captured June 6th by Zapata, according to a cable received today by General Carranza.

Carranza Remains Quiet

General Carranza declined today to discuss the scope of action or the powers which will be delegated to the representatives of the Constitutionalists to be sent to Niagara Falls. He also declined to discuss the possibility of an armistice, declaring in diplomatic affairs as in military matters it was inadvisable that certain matters be made public.

He asked to be excused from discussing these matters, saying he preferred to remain silent in regard to them rather than to have any statement he might make given a possible misleading construction.

General Carranza, however, seemed optimistic regarding the reception of the Constitutionalists representatives and the success of their mission. He reiterted that he previously had accepted the good offices of the mediators in principle for the discussion of international questions.

About the military affairs of the Constitutionalists, General Carranza spoke more freely. He estimated the number of men under arms in the Constitutionalists army at 100,000. He said there were in his possession also 120 pieces of field artillery, all captured from the Federals, 175 machine guns and ample ammunition.

On March 15th, 1913 when General Carranza held a review in Saltillo of the Constitutionalists troops he had less than 200 men and one machine gun.

Before the majority of the 16,000 troops now here leave for the south, General Carranza will hold another review.

VOLCANIC FIRE AT LAST APPEARS

Mount Lassen Eruptions Are Growing More Terrific

MAN REPORTED KILLED

Two Others Driven Temporarily Insane One Badly Injured—First Time Fire Has Been Seen Coming From Crater

Reddling, Calif., June 14.—Mount Lassen, finally erupted with volcanic fire today and one man is reported killed, one injured and two driven temporarily insane as a result of the terrific outburst from the crater which had been latent for many years.

Two eruptions occured today. A huge column of dense black smoke, steam and ashes was shot 2,000 feet in the air. The pillar of smoke was watched from towns fifty miles distant. Throughout the middle of the day the crater was quiescent, but at 7 o'clock tonight a second funnel of smoke and ashes shot skyward. It was larger in volume than the morning explosion.

Today's eruption was remarkable for the quantity of smoke and mineral substance which burst from the mountain. The heavy cloud was blown northward for several miles. The entire snow-capped peak has been blanketed with ashes.

W. J. Rushing, United States supervisor, who is in charge of Federal observations at Lassen, said the column of smoke was thrown about 2,000 feet high. The eruption lasted half an hour. Mr. Rushing said no heavy material was thrown out so far as he could determine and there was no big noise or vibration.

A report was received tonight and apparently confirmed that Lanning Graham, a lumber man from Viola, Cal., crushed by a rock blown from the fissue in the mountain. His eight companions fled when they saw that Graham had been killed. None of the other observers, it is said, was seriously injured.

Two new craters in addition to one blow open May 30th burst from the mountainside tonight. Fire from them was seen from roofs in various towns at considerable distance.

The first eruption today came from the crater of May 30th. It was this explosion that killed Graham. A jagged rock sawed him nearly in two He was taken to Volta, a few miles distant where he died.

Hugh Addington and Hiram Blodgett are missing and a Mr. Stipple was seriously bruised and cut by rocks. A report that one of the party went insane proved incorrect.

REWARDS GIVEN TO OFFICERS AND MEN

Who Were Distinguished for Their Bravery

IN FIGHT AT VERA CRUZ

Secretary Daniels Writes to Each of One Hundred and Eight Men Mentioned by Admiral Fletcher, Telling of Rewards.

Washington, June 14.—Officers and men among the American blue jackets and marines who distinguished themselves by conspicuous bravery and heroism at Vera Cruz, were recognized and rewarded today by the Navy Department. Every one of the 108 singled out for mention in Rear Admiral Fletcher's report of the occupatin of the port was given official commendation in a letter from Secretary Daniels, bringing word in most cases of medals, gratuities or promotions.

Secretary Daniels announced the action of the department in a letter to Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, who directed the operations at Vera Cruz, expressing the department's appreciation of "conspicuously able and courageous performance of duties entailing as they did grave responsibilities as could well be placed upon a naval commander."

"In the department's opinion," wrote Mr. Daniels, "your performnace of duty at the seizure of Vera Cruz equally entitles you to all the well-merited praise and commendation that has been bestowed on the officers and men whom you were directing.

Fletcher Did His Duty.

"It is a pleasure to add that if was fully expected that no matter what you were called upon to do, it would be done with a spirit and a degrees of excellence that could not be surpassed, and these expectations were met in every particular, under circumstances requiring professional skill and courage of the very highest order.

"Your part in the operations at Vera Cruz is known throughout the length and breadth of the land, and so nobly speaks for itself that the department finds it difficult to embody in a letter anything more that could add to the satisfaction of having so capably performed, under extraordinary conditions, a duty which not only upholds, but adds to the best traditions of the service which you adorn.

"It is with pleasure that the department places a copy of this letter on your already distinguished record."

A general order has been issued, rwarding a medal of honor and a gratuity of $100 to eleven enlisted men, for extraordinary heroism. They also will be advanced to the next higher rating, carrying increased pay. In addition to the letters written, each enlisted man has been advanced to the next higher rating, carrying increased pay.

The department, it was announced, has under consideration the question of further suitable reward for officers who have received commendatory letters. The law does not permit the award of medals of honor to naval officers, o matter how conspicuous their service may be.

M'ARTHUR SIGNATURES ARE DECLARED GENUINE

Jury Reaches Verdict, After Being Out All Night.

Second Trial of Noted Case at Raleigh Ends in Decisive Way—All Possibility of the Indictment of Newton Done Away With.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 14.—This morning at 10 o'clock the jury in the noted case of Citizens' Bank of Norfolk vs. The Newton-McArthur Lumber Company, Adam McArthur and Mrs. M. E. McArthur, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff, holding that the signatures of Mrs. McArthur and Adam McArthur on the note for $25,000, held by the Norfolk bank, are genuine. The jury had been out all night, and there was much apprehension that there would be a second mistrial. The first hearing of the case last Februarv resulted in a mistrial, eleven of the jurors holding that the McArthur signatures were genuine, and one that they were not.

At the former hearing and again in the hearing just concluded, Adam McArthur admitted the genuineness of his signatures on secured bonds of the Newton-McArthur Company, held by The Bank of Richmond, so that these signatures were not in question at this trial. Mr. McArthur's position was that while he did not remember signing these bonds and thought that in signing such papers for the Newton-McArthur Company he was signing them merely as an officer of the company, and not as making himself personally liable, that he would not resist judgment as to them. The outcome of this admission and the verdict in the other case of the Norfolk bank make the papers in the hands of the banks perfectly good.

Furthermore, the verdict of the jury removes the possibility of indictments being taken against J. Sprunt Newton, or anyone else, on the charge of having forged the signatures of the McArthurs to the notes and other papers. Also it practically makes perfectly good probably $75,000 of notes and checks with questioned McArthur signatures held by other banks, including over $50,000 in the hands of Raleigh banks.

UNION OFFICER'S HOME DYNAMITED

Violent Demonstrations at Butte Continue.

POLICE ARE HELPLESS

Wife and Children of Official Escape Uninjured, but House Wrecked. Safe is Blown Open While Thousands Look On.

Butte, Mont., June 14.—Violent demonstrations by seceding members of the Western Federation of Miners kept Butte awake much of last night. Hundreds of the nine thousand members of the local miners' union, disgruntled at the heavy assessments levied for the Michigan copper strike, and discontented with the card system, marched through the streets after a mass meeting. Most of them went home and the city was quiet until 2 o'clock.

Then the home of Patrick Casey, an officer of the union, was dynamited. Casey and his wife and three children escaped injury, although windows were blown out and the porch was demolished. An attempt was made about the same time to dynamite the home of Albert Riley, president of the local miners' union.

Earlier in the night the safe of the Western Federation, taken from the headquarters of the Union by riaters, who earlier had wrecked the place was blown open with explosives. The police were paweriess to stop the carting away and rynamiting of the sofe. Nearly a thousand persons stood around while the seceeding union men set off several charges before the safe door gave way.

After the Union's safe had been wrecked open and extmined by the insurgents, the latter complained to the police that one of their number ha placed the rest of them in the attitude of thieves by decamping with $3,000 which had been in the strong box of the Union.

WILD WOMEN COMMIT FURTHER OUTRAGES

Bomb Exploded in St. George Last Night.

London, June 14.—A bomb was exploded in St. George church, Hanover Square, tonight. Evidence tends to show the explosion was the work of suffragists and coming so close on the bomb outrage in Westminster Abbey the desecration of this famous edifice has caused alarm as to how far militants intend to go.

Three pews and three stained windows were damaged by the explosion. The famous paintings of "the last supper" by Sir James Thornhill, which hangs over the altar was not damaged, although the window above it was splintered.

Firemen found a square tin box and several pieces of candle in the overthrown pew. A member of the congregation said the pew was occupied at the evening service by a woman in a checked dress. On an envelope found in the church was written "a protest to the torture of women."

While judges of the high courts and the Lord Mayor were attending service in St. Paul's cathedral today, suffragists interrupted with protests against the torturing of women. The service was delayed several minutes while two women chained to seats were removed.

A crowd today overran a platform in Hyde Park where a militant flag was raised, before four men who were holding a meeting could begin their speeches. Police took the men to a station for protection. Two meetings in Hyde Park of non-militant suffragist organizations were broken up and it required a strong police squad to quell the disturbances.

IS MOST CRITICAL STAGE MEDIATION

However Washington Officials Are Hopeful

OF ULTIMATE PEACE

And Still Insist That Negotiations at Niagara Falls Are Progressing Most Satisfactorily—Delicate Situation.

Washington, June 14.—Admitting that mediation at Niagara Falls is at its most critical stage, having reached the point where the personnel of the provisional government to succeed Huerta must be selected, Washington officials tonight nevertheless were hopeful of ultimate peace and still insistent that negotiations were progressing satisfactorily.

Administration leaders realized, however, the importance developments of the next few days will have on the situation confronting the nations involved. Throughout the day President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were in frequent communication with the American commissioners, Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehman at Niagara Falls.

"There is nothing to announce," said Mr. Bryan tonight following interchanges with the American commissioners, "but mediation still progresses satisfactorily. We are not changing our view of the situation."

Communication between the American delegates and Washington was reported to relate to the character of the Mexican provisional government to be established pending a constitutional election. Selection of the provisional president and his associates was considered at a joint session of the mediators and commissioners of both American republics yesterday. According to reports received here the Huerta delegates and those from the United States differed widely on the names proposed.

Suggest Names.

Today the name of a candidate for the provisional presidency suggested by the Mexicans was reported to have been submitted to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan. His name was not made public. So far as could be learned the administration still held to a desire that the provisional president should be a man acceptable to the Constitutionalists.

While the mediators are struggling with the problem of succession to Huerta there were additional evidences of efforts to bring influence on behalf of the Huerta government to bear upon the Washington administration. Agents from Mexico City are reported to have arrived here and to be in communication with the Huerta delegates at Niagara Falls.

Working in Huerta's behalf also is Charles A. Towne, the New York attorney, whose mission here in the interest of Mexico City government was disclosed yesterday.

Mr. Towne is seeking a conference with President Wilson.

According to persons in Washington in touch with the Huerta element, the agents of the dictator are making every effort now to save General Huerta's face. They want concessions enough on the part of the United States to save Huerta from complete humiliation.

The arrival in Washington today of Pedro Del Villar, an associate of Gen. Felix Diaz, led to a renewal of reports that Diaz and Huerta were seeking to reach an agreement on the provisional government plans to be insisted on by the Huerta delegates at Niagara Falls.

Rafael Zubaran, chief agent of General Carranza in Washington, said no word had come tonight from his chief with relation to the mediation conference.

Diplomatic Struggle.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 14.—Although there were noconferences today between the mediator and the American or the Mexican delegates was apparent that a great struggle in diplomacy between the United States and the Huerta government would begin this week.

While mediation has passed safely over many obstacles the factor on which peace most depends, the selection of a provisional president acceptable to all factions has brought the entire mediation body to a realization that ultimately on this, mediation will succeed or fail.

Many name have been suggested but thus far, none has been found suitable. The discussion of names will continue for several days.

The American delegates are waiting for the Washington government, through its close communication with the Constitutionalists, to learn who would be acceptable to them. The arrival of Constitutionalists here, it generally is agreed would facilitate the choice of provisional president, but the mediators disclosed the door to them because they have not declared an armistice.

No opportunity has come for the American government to outline its alternative source of action should mediation fail. While the United States might resume its attitude of passive observation as the Constitutionalists pressed onward, intimations have come from well-informed quarters that American occupation of Mexico City might be the ultimate outcome.

Southern League Race Is Tight

SIX OF THE EIGHT CLUBS HAVE PERCENTAGES OF OVER 500

Atlanta, June 14.—Six clubs in the Southern League ended the week just clased with percentages over the 500 mark. Chattanooga, notwithstanding an unsuccessful week, continued to lead the pennant aspirants with Mobile, Nashville, Birmingham, New Orleans, and Atlanta within striking distance of the top. Memphis and Montogomery were the only two clubs under the 500 mark.

Nashville and Birmingham had the most successful week. The latter broke even with Montgomery in a four game series on the latter's grounds and then returned home to take three straight games from New Orleans. Nashville, at home, won four victories out of five games with Atlanta and took two out of three from Chattanooga, Montgomery, Memphis and Mobile ended the week with an even break.

The form displayed by the various teams indicates that the race for the pennant probably will be very close. No club has shown decided superiority over the remainder of the field.

Chattanooga nas been in the lead the greater part of the season thus far, but now is being pressed hard.

MANY ENTRIES RACING EVENTS

Lexington, Ky., June. 14.—The Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association today announced dates and entries to its fixed events which will be given at a meeting here October 5th to 17th. The entries break all records for number and include the best in the harness horse world.

The richest stake is the $14,000 Kentucky Futurity for three year old trotters. The total value of stakes and purses is close to $100,000.

SECOND DIVISION EXCITING ATTENTION

Second String Teams Excelling Top-Notchers

Miller Huggins' Cardinals Looked Better Than for Several Years—The Giant-Red Race Sensational.

New York, June 14.—Baseball attention last week centered largely on Second Division teams in the two major leagues.

In the National League, New York, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Chicago all played ball at anything but a pennant clip, while St. Louis, Philadelphia and Boston displayed class that won victories.

The Cardinals forced their way into the first division by winning five of six games, displacing the Cubs, who only broke even. Philadelphia won four in six, pasting the Brooklyns.

Cards. Look Better.

The work of Miller Huggins men on their present trip has been a revelation to Eastern fans. The Cardinals look better than they have since the early days of Roger Bresnahan. The champion Giants barely were able to split the seires with them, while the Brooklyns were overcome in all four games.

A Neck and Neck Race.

While this spurting by lower-placed teams was going on, the New Yorks and Cincinnatis continued the remarkable game of regularly winning on the same day—only losing when the other did. Without a break that really could be called one, this had been kept up from May 25th until yesterday. The only exceptions came May 31st and June 2nd. Neither had gained or lost ground for nearly three weeks until the Reds lost to Philadelphia yesterday, while the New Yorks were beating the Cubs.

Teams below the three leaders were in the limelight almost as much in American League play as in the National. The Athletics were only tripped two times in seven, but the Washingtons had rather a disastrous week of it. They dropped four straight to St. Louis anr Chicago, and after taking a brace of games from the White Sox were trounced by the tail-end Clevelands. Things are going badly for Griffiths' men.

Detroit lost almost as much ground as Washington, although the Tigers should pick up this week, having a series of games with the New Yorks, who have been losing with regularity. St. Louis has worked up until it is right at the Tigers' heels. The Browns had to play fast ball, however, to keep ahead of the Bostons. The Red Sox won five out of seven games. They started the new week with a smashing victory over the Browns today.

Another division team which has done excellent work in the last two weeks is the Chicago White Sox. The Sox have been using the stick to better effect and their defense continues up to its wonted strength. Joe Benz just escaped pitching his second no-hit game in two weeks, Wednesday, besting Walter Johnson and allowing but on doubtful hit.

The unsuccessful fight Chicago waged for first place drew most attention in the Federal League race. Baltimore has suffered enough reverses in the series preceding to be within striking distance, and in the beginning of the Western invasion appeared to be tottering. With Indianapolis beating the Chicago Terrapins, all Chicago had to do was to defeat Brooklyn, but the latter put up an unexpectedly good fight, and though the Hoosiers did trounce Knabe's men in the final double-header, Brooklyn beat Chicago in the farewell combat.

The advance of the Indianapolis to a place in the fore front of the race was another event of the week. Buffalo, through Chicago's fall, hoped to see second place Friday.

GOOD RAINS IN ROBESON

Transmission Lines Out—Mr. Highly In Extremis—Other Notes

(Special Star Correspondence)

Lumberton, N. C., June 14.—This section was visited by good rains again last night. At Red Banks, 15 miles from here on the Seaboard, the rainfall is said to have been very heavy. During a severe electrical storm, accompanying the rain, the Yadkin power transmission lines were put out of commission between here and Maxton. The company's phone line was also out of commission. Linemen went from here early this morning and repaired the damage.

Between 15 and 20 people went from here to Wrightsville this morning and returning this evening on the late trains. They expressed themselves as being delighted with their trip.

At 9 o'clock tonight Mr. Thos. N. Higley, register of deeds, is reported as being in a dying condition, having been steadily sinking since 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Higley has not enjoyed good health for the past year or two but had been at his office regularly until two weeks ago when he was taken sick, but after a few days, improved since that he was able to be up about the house. It was expected yesterday that he would be aut today, but he took a relapse and now the attending physicians do not expect him to live through the night.

Vice President Capps and other officials of the Seaboard spent several hours here today, arriving on a private car on Train 14 and leaving this evening on 13. They were going south and decided to spend a day in Lumberton. They enjoyed an auto ride around town and went short distances in the country in different directions and seemed much pleased with their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mason, of Hope Mills, passed through here this morning en route to Wilmington where Mrs. Mason will enter a hospital.

Miss Rose Jenkins, of Fairmont, was operated on at the Thompson Hospital for appendicitis yesterday and is reported tonight as doing well.

NEW BASIS OF PAY FOR RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE

Size Of Car Instead Of Weight Of Mail Determining Factor

(Washington dispatch in New York Herald)

On the heels of an announcement that the Joint Congressional Commission on Railway Mail Pay had decided that compensation of railroads and for carrying the mails should be on the basis of space rather than weight, the House Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads today favorably reported a bill to carry out this idea.

The bill, however, does not stand much chance of being passed at this session. To make it attractive to Democrats a "spoils" provision was inserted which would compel all assistant postmasters who are now under the civil service to take examinations. This would open up the way for the appointment of Democrats to replace Republicans.

The bill is "loaded" with a dozen other postal reform propositions which thus far have failed of enactment.

Jonathan Bourne, one-time Senator from Oregon and chairman of the Commission on Railway Mail Pay, issued a statement today showing that, under the present system space as well as weight are the determining factors, about 90 per cent. of the compensation being based on the weight of mail carried.

Under the committee's scheme there is no weighing and no cost to the Government in ascertainment. Four units are adopted, a 60-foot car, a 30-foot car, a 15-foot car and pouch mail. Under the weighing system padding of mails is possible during a weighing period, said the report. Under the suggested plan there is no possibility of any dishonesty. The Government is protected, as the sole right of authorization of car space in any of the four units, rests with the Postmaster-General and the railroad receives a credit the instant it complies with his authorization."

The commission will recommend payment on the basis of the car mile and additional payment as terminal charges. The rates under consideration for a round trip for a railway postoffice car vary from $8.50 for a 60-foot car to $4.20 for a 15-foot apartment car. The line rates vary from 21 cents for a 60-foot storage car to 6 cents for a 15-foot apartment car.

WANTS TO TRY NEW JAIL

Tired of State Prison, He Asks for Penitentiary Sentence

(New York World)

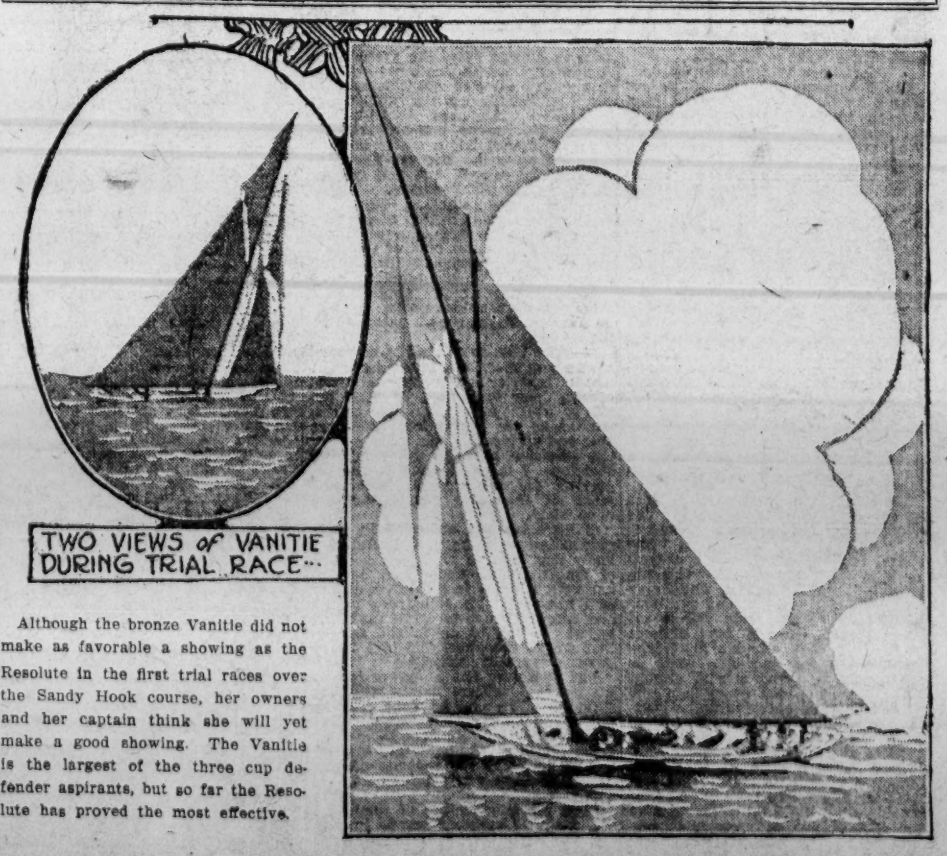
A novel plea that George Coppinger, aged 64, made to Judge Wadhams yesterday won for him the privilege of pleading guilty to a misdemeanor carrying with it a sentence of a year in the penitentiary instead of a term in State prison.

Coppinger has spent 23 years of his life in State prison. A few weeks ago he was caught after he had broken into a building at 629 Sixth avenue.

"Please let me plead guilty to unlawful entry," he asked the court yesterday. "I am tired of State prison, but I have never been in the penitentiary. I want the experience."

With the consent of Assistant District Attorney O'Malley the plea was accepted.

BRONZE BEAUTY VANITIE IS EXPECTED TO MAKE BETTER SHOWING IN LATER TRIALS



Although the bronze Vanitie did not make as favorable a showing as the Resolute in the first trial races over the Sandy Hook course, her owners and her captain think she will yet make a good showing. The Vanitie is the largest of the three cup defender aspirants, but so far the Resolute has proved the most effective.

Is Honus Wagner Greatest of Them All?

SIX VIEWS OF THE GREAT HONUS

By O. T. GURNEE.

WHO is the greatest ball player in the game today? This question has been asked thousands of times and has caused innumerable arguments and yet remains unsettled. It is almost certain to remain undecided, as experts, newspaper writers and baseball men are unable to agree. National league men think that certain players in their organization surpass those in the American league, while men in the latter body believe they possess the best in the game.

Hans Wagner, Johnny Evers, Mordecai Brown, Frank Chance, Ty Cobb, Joe Jackson, Tris Speaker, Ed Walsh, Eddie Collins and Hal Chase have been referred to at some time or other as being the star of all ball players. Fans and men connected with the game who admire one of these men still are of the opinion that he is the leader of the lot. Wagner, Cobb, Speaker, Collins and Jackson have probably the strongest right to the reputation owing to their ability to hit, field and run bases.

Roger Bresnahan of the Chicago Cubs, who is regarded as one of the smartest ball players in the National league, paid Hans Wagner a big compliment when he declared that the Pittsburgh shortstop is the greatest ball player the game has ever had and ever will have. Bresnahan does not think baseball ever had a man of Wagner's ability and does not think there will ever be a player who will play the game as he has played it for seventeen years. The Cub backstop is so strong in his belief that he declared he would not give Wagner for five Cobbs, Jacksons or Speakers.

"I have watched Wagner for seventeen years and in that time have never seen him make a mistake, and no one else has. He started to play the same year I did, and because of his natural ability I took an interest in him and watched his work closely. I must say in all truthfulness that I have never seen him do the wrong thing. That may be putting it rather strong, but it is the truth. I have talked with men who have been with him for years and they have told me the same. Tommy Leach was on the Louisville club with Wagner, and also at Pittsburgh, and he will confirm what I say. Fred Clarke and Gibson will say the same. They have yet to see him blunder in a play.

"If you will notice Wagner you will see that he makes all his plays instantly. He is a remarkably fast thinker. He has all his plays figured out before they are made, and he makes all his throws to the right place and at the right time and does not throw at all when he sees there is no chance to get a man. That is why he never makes a mistake.

"Wagner is big, clumsy looking, but there never has been a shortstop who has covered more ground than he has. Mike Doolan is a wonderful fielder and thrower, but he does not surpass the German. As a hitter I do not think there ever has been a better one. Wagner has never reached the high marks that Anson did or Cobb has, but he has always been over the .300 mark, which is wonderful for a man who has been playing seventeen years.

"It is not so much Wagner's figures that make him incomparable at the plate as it is his ability to place a hit in any section of the field. He is not a one field batter, as most heavy hitters are. He is just as likely to slam a ball to right as he is to pull it to left, and he may slam it over second base too.

"He is a wonder in running the bases—that is, he was—and is still able to go around fast enough to hold his own. He is clever in touching men sliding into the bag and in holding runners on second. He possesses every qualification a ball player could desire, and as he never makes a mistake I contend he is the greatest ball player in the world, and that does not bar Cobb, Jackson, Speaker or any one else.

"What would the Pittsburgh club be without Wagner? Nothing but a second division team, and if he were to be taken off the club I would be willing to wager it would drop and drop fast. He did not perform regularly last season on account of a lame ankle. What happened to the team? It appeared to be one of the weakest clubs in the league, and all due to the absence of Wagner."

Bresnahan is not the only man who praises Wagner. Mike Mitchell, formerly with the Cubs, declares he never has seen a ball player like him and reiterates what Bresnahan said about his never having seen the Pirate shortstop make a mistake. Wagner, on top of his wonderful qualifications, is one of the most congenial players in the league and is liked by every one. He does not know what it is to have an enemy.

NOW that the time for the big events of the college rowing season is drawing near coaches and candidates are hard at work putting on the finishing touches, shifting men here and there and making innumerable time trials over one, two, three and four mile courses. The cut shows Harvard and Pennsylvania varsity eights, two of the leading candidates for honors in the east.

The Yale varsity eight as it is now seated is without a member who composed it in the race against Harvard last year, and Coach Nickalls is inclined to think that no more changes will be necessary. Except for class races the members of the eight are entirely without intercollegiate experience. The eight will be rowed in the following makeup for the present: Stroke, Appleton; No. 7, McHenry; No. 6, Rogers; No. 5, Sturtevant; No. 4, Sheldon; No. 3, Titus; No. 2, Coe; bow, Low; coxswain, McLane.

FOUR AMERICANS HAVE WON ENGLISH DERBY

ALTHOUGH Mr. Duryea is the fourth American to win the Derby, only one American bred horse ever has captured that great race—Iroquois, owned by the late Pierre Lorillard. This was in 1881, and ever since the great aim of American owners of race horses has been to equal the triumph of Iroquois. This fine horse was the son of Leamington and was bred at the Chestnut Hill stud, in Philadelphia.

The late William C. Whitney won the great English turf classic with Volodyovski in 1901. Mr. Whitney had leased the racing services of the horse, and his victory in the race was one of the great triumphs in Mr. Whitney's career.

In 1907 Richard Croker won the Derby with Orby, bred in Ireland, and thereby gratified what he always had declared was his greatest ambition.

Sir Martin, an American bred horse, owned by Walter Winans, was winning the great event a few years ago when he fell at the famous Tattenham corner, and with him fell the hopes of America for that year.

Durbar II., the winner of this year, is a bay colt by Rabelais, out of Armenia, an American mare. He was bred in France.

After his moderate display at Longchamps on May 17, when he finished unplaced in the purse for colts, valued at $20,000, Mr. Duryea decided not to send him to compete in the Derby. On the elimination of the "wonder horse," The Tetrarch, however, the American turfman altered his decision and determined to give the colt a chance.

Mr. Duryea, one of the most prominent American turfmen, already has a string of victories to his credit. The chief of these was the race at Newmarket in 1912, where Sweeper II. broke away from the field in a spectacular finish and won by a length. Mr. Duryea bred Bugler, Manthorpe, Banshee and other favorites in English and French races.

Mr. Duryea and Henry Payne Whitney have jointly owned several horses. Mr. Duryea has stables both in England and France, and with Mrs. Duryea he has been a familiar figure at most of the important races of the last ten years.

Mr. Duryea never has been better than seventh in previous Derbys. He took this place with Sweeper II. in 1912.

Formerly Mr. Duryea was well known as a yachtsman. He took a leading part in the America's cup races and was identified with the syndicate that helped to defend the America's cup some years ago. His interest later turned to horse racing, and when the anti-betting laws were passed in New York state he started his foreign stables and since then has passed most of his time abroad.

The Derby stakes were established in 1780, but races had been run on the same course as early as 1640. The stakes are valued at $32,500 and are for entire colts and fillies of three years old. The course is about one mile and a half in length. For this year's race there were originally 375 entries. The great favorite, The Tetrarch, was scratched a few weeks previous to the running of the Derby.

BOOGER RED COMING BACK TO THE TURF

BOOGER RED, a great Galloway, is coming back to the turf.

At the time he retired, in 1911, Booger Red was conceded to be the champion Galloway of this country. He raced from coast to coast and always held his own, even against much larger thoroughbreds.

This little big horse has the distinction of being one of the best conformed Galloways in the United States, and even today his legs are as clean as on the day he was foaled.

Two years ago Mr. Pinkerton refused an offer of $8,000 for Booger Red made by an English syndicate. The Britons planned to breed him to polo pony mares.

Among the notable performances of this sturdy Galloway was the defeat of Roseben, Chapultepec, Colonel Jack and Belwether on Jan. 16, 1909, at the winter meeting of the New California Jockey club in Oakland. On that day Booger Red, then owned and trained by J. H. Brannon, proved he could race under any conditions, for it rained heavily and the track was heavy. Despite this handicap the Galloway traveled the six and a half furlongs in 1:22.

While in the stud Booger Red has been bred to mares owned by Harry Payne Whitney and August Belmont, and his get may make mounts for Americans in international polo matches in years to come.

In addition to Booger Red, the Jericho stable colors this season will be seen on Talisman, a jumper which has been raced here, in England and France by F. S. von Stade, the noted polo player and gentleman jockey, and Andes, winner of the Piping Rock subscription race last year.

Walter Johnson, Off to Bad Start, Expects Record Year

WALTER JOHNSON.

IN spite of the fact that he got off to a very unsatisfactory start, Walter Johnson looks for a record breaking season. The team is playing better ball behind the big Swede than ever before, and he is not at all dismayed by the early defeats.

Morgan makes up his mind that it is not right to hold on to Martho Washingtons' will, he will return it to Fairfax county, Virginia. It was stolen from the courthouse during the Civil War.

Dress reformers now want to secure more comfart for men in decreeing a soft, flabby collar to take the place of the starched and stiff article which makes them so hot in the collar. The fashion for men has been about the same since the year One, but reformers seem to be bent on interfering with their prerogative to wear anything old thing that comes to hand first.

KICKED AGAINST HIS OWN VOTE.

Senator Tillman voted for repeal of the subsidy clause of the Panama Canal act because the Democratic State Convention in South Carolina absolved him from voting for it. He wasn't glad to get a chance to vote against a subsidy, but he blamed the whole thing on President Wilson because he had to vote against it. He didn't feel safe in pitchforking his State convention for its position, so he got even by attacking a Democratic President who was trying to save the word of honor of the nation and along with it the face of the Democratic party.

The South Carolina Senator really wanted to follow a "joker" because it was in the National Democratic platform. It makes no difference whether the "joker" was sneaked in the platform sometime between midnight and day, he showed signs of making a fetish of it just because it was there. Thirty-seven Democratic senators, including Tillman, voted for repeal, but Tillman voted that way and kicked the other. Eleven Democratic senators vote against repeal, but their vote against it in accordance with their convictions was more reasonable than Tillman's vote, for it was against his convictions, coupled with one of his characteristic attacks on a President who is noted for his calm judgment, while the South Carolina senator is notorious for the brand of rabid oratory with which he has bayed fame.

Lest we forget, Senator Tillman has knifed them all—down in his own State and up in Washington. That is his forte. He may have a certain amount of rugged honesty about him, but he is no master of his unbridled tongue. He s a pastmaster in vengeful speaking.

Between deciding with Wilson or Tillman, the country will lean towards the President who knows that the nation's word of honor was given in a treaty with Greae Britain and who regarded it as a higher duty to preserve the nation's word of honor than to stick to a party platform plank instead of obeying a solemn treaty obligation with one of the greatest nations of the world.

The Democratic party will justify Wilson, and so will the American nation. Time will justify abrogation of a disguised subsidy for the coastwise shipping trust.

THE STATE PLATFORM.

The Charlotte Observer on Saturday carried a two-column article by the Hon. Cameron Morrison in reply to the open letter of the Hon. A. L. Brooks, of Greensboro, protesting against the half-way State-wide primay endorsement in the platform of the Democratic State Convention, and asking to be informed as to the attitude of the party to the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on at the election this fall. Mr. Morrison, it will be remembered, was on the platform committee with Mr. Brooks, and it was the later who made the minority report of the sub-committee. It was Lieutenant Governor R. A. Doughton and Mr. Morrison who made the majority report embodied in the platform adopted by the convention. The platform, it should be stated, was recommended by nearly all of the full committee composed of ten members.

Mr. Morrison promised another article in defense of the action of the platform committee and we do not care to refer in a conclusive way to his contentions in both communications, since we are disposed to see all his line of defense before coming to a deliberate conclusion. With reference, however, to the failure of the State convention to endorse all the proposed constitutional amendments, he says:

"The principal criticism seems to be that we failed to insert planks in the platform endorsing nine of the amendments to the constitution of the State, adopted by the last General Assembly and submitted to the people of the State for their ratification or rejection. We considered this suggestion, and I think the committee and the convention came to a wise conclusion about these amendments. The committee certainly had no prejudice against the proposition. We came to the conclusion that the Democratic party in North Carolina could not in justice endorse these proposed amendments to the constitution and make them fundamental principles of Democracy in the State. We thought that public sentiment had so crystalized in favor of the amendment looking to the extension of the school term in the State as to make our duty upon this amendment different from that upon the other nine. We did not believe that the minds of the Democrats of the State had been made up as to the wisdom of adopting these proposed amendments to our constitution. We were of the opinion that even the legal profession in the State had not studied these amendments and that as to the public generally there had been very little consideration of the amendments."

We get it from the above, that the platform committee or the convention, was not stuck on those other nine amendments like it was on the one promising school extension. Endorsement was purposely withheld because the platform committee was opposed to the amendments or else feared the political effect. Nevertheless, the convention could not have more strongly committed the party to all the amendments that it already has been done by a Democratic Legislature, so all that was needed was a few lines showing where the party stood.

The Democratic party has certain fixed principles and they are fundamentals. Our politicians, although they are lawyers, must not get fundamentals and policies mixed, for it is customary for platforms to re-affirm the party's fundamental principles and then declare itself on certain policies or issues that are constantly coming before the people.

There can be no defense in the presumption that the people of the State had not made up their minds on certain questions and for that reason they should not be endorsed. A campaign of education necessarily has to follow the adoption of every platform, and were any party to wait till the people are thoroughly familiar with all public questions, we would never have a party convention that sets the pace but one that simply echoes what it believes to be what the people are posted about. Even at that, conventions often are mistaken about how the people stand. In the day of "free and unlimited coinage of silver without waiting for the action of any other nation," the Democratic National Convention thought the people were for it, but it sized them up wrong. You can't always tell how the people stand and you have to educate them up to a party's position on policies. There is no need to put arguments in platforms. The platforms declare and views, etc., and the arguments are reserved for the campaign speakers.

So far as those amendments are concerned, everyone of them already have been placed in nomination by a Democratic Legislature. They will be on the ticket as Democratic measures and it is up to Democratic campaigners to educate the people with regard to them. We have never known the people to be posted beforehand on constitutional questions, nor upon other issues or policies, for that matter.

RURAL HAULING EXPENSES

After thorough investigation, the president of the Kansas Agricultural College has ascertained that most of the traffic in that State is borne by ten per cent of the public roads, and that a large per cent of the cost of transporation is on account of hauling products to the markets over the public roads. The cost of hauling on the roads depends upon their condition. If the condition makes hauling slow and difficult, the cost comes high, but if the road is a good one the cost of hauling becomes greately reduced. That proclaims the economy of good roads, and it proves that while it costs something to build good roads it costs a great deal more to have bad roads which pile up the mud tax and the costs for repairs.

The Kansas investigator figures, at the least calculation that if those ten per cent of public highways were put in first class condition the saving in the hauling of the farmers of Kansas would be at least $3,000,000 a year. In other words, that $3,000,000 paid out for bad roads would remain in the pockets of the farmers and it would greately lighten their taxes. The taxes paid the county and State are not the only taxes paid by the farmers, for it has been estimated that their mud tax and the inefficiency of their farming implements is a greater burden than all other taxes which fall upon the producers. At any rate, it is a considerable and useless addition to the burden of the agriculture interests.

The Kansas College president got the State highway engineer to compile the figures on rural transporation and they show that it requires a haulage expense of $11,000,000 a year to get the surplus products of Kansas farmers to the railroads and to the markets. Hence, it is noted that good roads would save the farmers about 30 per cent of their haulage expense, so the conclusion reached is that it would be economy for Kansas to spend a few million dallars in improving its roads.

What an immense amount of expense and trouble would be saved in North Carolina if only ten per cent of the public roads were put in first class condition. There would not only be a saving in the haulage expense, but the greatest gain would be in the increase of farm values and larger development of the regions through which the modern roads might pass.

MOREHEAD CITY IS RILED.

The May number of the Health Bulletin of the State Board of Health has given great offense to Morehead City by providing that resort with a most unenviable kind of publicity just as the summer season has opened. It appeared under the title of "Health Facts About Morehead City," and the statistics and comments accompanying them occupied the entire title page of the Bulletin. We copy from the Bulletin the following:

"The first four facts are taken from the death certificates which the town officials have filed with the State Board of Health.

"Fact 1. The average death rate for Morehead City for the last three years has been over 35 per cent. higher than the average death rate in the United States.

"Fact 2. The death rate from typhoid fever for Morehead City for the last three years has been 263 per cent. higher than the average typhoid fever death rate in the United States.

"Fact 3. The death rate from diarrheal diseases among children (summer complaint) in Morehead City for the last three years has been 353 per cent. higher than the average in the United States.

"Fact 4. Over 17 per cent. more of the deaths in Morehead City for the last three years have occurred during the six fly months than during the other six months."

The Board of Health makes other collateral statements numbered five, six, seven and eight and refers to the unsuccessful efforts of the board to have sanitary regulations and methods adopted at Morehead, but it states that the people of the place rose up and by petition and agitation secured the repeal of the sanitary ordinances adopted in accordance with the recommendations of the State board.

Dr. Ben F. Royal, city health officer of Morehead City, wrote a communication to the Raleigh News and Observer, of Saturday, defending the sanitary standing of his town. He protests that injustice has been done, and while he acknowledges that unsanitary conditions did prevail, the health situation at present cannot be judged by the conditions prevailing two to three years ago. In fact, Dr. Royal states that the health statistics given in the Bulletin cover a period of three years and do not fairly represent the health conditions today.

It is to be regretted that the State board felt compelled to publish so hurtful a statement, but no doubt it felt that a grave duty devolved upon it owing to the fact that it is important that people should be warned so they may act accordingly. There is even talk of Morehead City's sueing the State board for damages, but we hardly believe the citizens of Morehead would invite a controversy that would further extend the kind of publicity that has already been given the resort.

The action of the State Board of Health in this matter should be warning to North Carolina towns which think they know more than the eminent physicians who compose the board. It is doing a great work to improve health conditions in North Carolina, and to ignore its recommendations and spurn its methods only results in the unfortunate predicament in which Morehead City finds itself today.

The Milwaukee Journal sagely remarks that "one hope of the Democrats of Wisconsin is to stand squarely back of President Wilson's friends". If Democrats do not stand back of a Democratic adminstration they need not expect to have many. Grover Cleveland had more brains than all his party put together but enough small guns were turned against him to defeat him and the Democratic party for nearly a score of years. In the Senate a few days ago, a Southern Senator who once threatened to join the Populists, declared that he never considered Cleveland a Democrat.

The Salisbury Post says "Grow and can at home." That is a good idea. If we "grow and can at home" we can and grow at home. One industry will sustain and develop another, so that the more growing we do the more canning we can do. The more canning we do the more growing we can do. One thing radically wrong with this fine producing country is that we do not develop its splendid resources nor take advantage of its opportunities. We produce too much raw material for the other fellow to finish up and return to us at a high price.

A man the other day blamed alleged business depression on Wilson's adminstration. What should he care about a normal lot of depression now and then just so there is no widespread, disastrous panic like the Roosevelt article in 1907. Men who blame naturally dull periods an politics are the kind who never can recollect a Republican panic.

Instead of expressing joy, why not do it by parcel post?

There's no doubt about the fact that the business men of Newbern are taking an interest in the Eastern Carolina Fair and want to see it made a big success. They are liberally subscribing for stock, the proceeds from which will be used in the construction of the railroad to the grounds, and it is now an assured fact that cars will be in operation there when the next fair opens.—Newbern Journal.

The Progressive Farmer calls attention to the circumstance that there was not a representative of the agricultural industry on the platform committee of the Democratic State Convention. The Catawba County News possibly gives the explanation of the absence of any member of the farming fraternity on the committee. Says the News: "Let not our farmers sit down and complain that the lawyers and politicians run the party. What else can they do when no one else will take part in it?—Raleigh News and Observer.

The Wilmington Star notes the recent death of Capt. James Maglenn, who was for 40 years connected with the Seaboard Air Line Railroad. The older residents of Charlotte remember him well. Captain Maglenn and Capt. J. G. Baskerville, of Charlotte, were contemporary engineers on the old Carolina Central, the two survivors of the old regime. Captain Baskerville is still in service. When the Carolina Central shops were at Laurinburg Captain Maglenn was master mechanic and from the little shops there turned out some of the best locomotives in the service of the Carolina Central or any other road. Captain Maglenn was an Irish Confederate, having served in the Civil War as engineer on the Confederate blockade runner Advance, the steamer provided by Governor Vance, and which kept North Carolina in supplies until the fall of Fort Fisher and the close of the war.—Charlotte Observer.

They Play Stiff Games Up At Shenandoah, Pa.

(Pottsville, Pa., Dispatch in Philadelphia Record)

Before Referee in Bankruptcy E. D. Smith recently, Joseph Strylzyk, of Shenandoah, with liabilities of $50,000 and assets of $35,000 testified that from 1909 to 1914 he lost $12,000 playing poker. All the games in which he participated with so much mad luck were played in Shenandoah, and according to the testimony given by Strylzyk, stiff poker games are not at all uncommon in Shenandoah. He said that on one occasion he "sat in" at a game on a Saturday afternoon and played until Sunday morning, dropping about $1,200.

SPECIAL SERVICE FOR BOYS

Interesting Occasion at Fifth Street Church Yesterday Morning. Two Addresses.

The morning service at Fifth Street Methodist church yesterday was given to the interest of the boys of the church, a special sermon being preached by the pastor, Rev. G. T. Adams, after which Mr. J. B. Huntington, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., made a short address. The boys had charge of the opening service, and occupied front seats. At the close of the service six bright young fellows became members of the church.

In his usual interesting manner Mr. Adams urged the boys to observe those fundamental principles which go to make up a successful life. These truths were illustrated with spicy incidents that brought them vividly to the attention of the minds of the younger boys. First of all, the speaker declared should be firmly established the habit of telling the truth, for no boy can become a "man" who learns to tell lies.

Pointing out the example set by the young Christ, he next showed them that it should be their purpose at all times to obey their parents. In this connection, he also urged that the parents should take more interest in their boys. Not only should the boys be obedient, he said, but they should also be industrious, for no boy ever achieved great success who was lazy. Honesty was another virtue that was impressed upon their minds in forceful manner as being an essential element of true character.

Boys should always be courteous and respect those older than themselves, the speaker declared. Not only should they be courteous, but they should also be reverent. After these naturally comes that spirits of helpfulness that is so much needed in the world today. Mr. Adams urged the boys to begin immediately to make themselves useful to other people and to cultivate that spirit of service for others that is so essential to personal happiness and ultimate success.

In conclusion, the speaker impressed upon the boys the necessity of seeking above all the kingdom of God and His righteousness, for in this, he said, is embodied all those principles which he had shown to be so important in their lives. In response to his invitation six young fellows came forward and united with the church.

At the conclusion of his sermon, Mr. Adams invited Mr. Huntington to make a talk to the boys. Mr. Huntington made a most helpful address in which he impressed upon the fathers the importance of making companions of their boys.

In his work among boys for the last thirteen years the one thing that had caused him more disappointment than any other, he said, was the fact that parents fail to show to their children that spirit of comradeship which is so essential to the future welfare of the children.

Mr. Huntington also spoke of the many problems that are involved in rearing boys. He had been in the work long enough, he said, to learn that it was no easy job to train boys and he did not think that parents should go about it in a hap-hazard way.

Preceding the sermon, a duet was sung by Misses Caroline Fleet and Alberta Dudley. Masters Rob't Elmer Jones, Marvin Davis, Early Boushee, W. E. Yopp, Jr., and J. W. Fleet, Jr., also sang a song that did credit to the young fellows.

The church had been prettily decorated for the occasion by Master Henry Marshburn.

The total prizes are $1,500, the race course is two per cent. down grade, hydrant on left hand side of track, water presure about 50 pounds and height of hydrant 20 inches.

Y. M. C. A. Meeting Tonight.

The organization meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Beach Club will be held in the association building on Market street this evening, at which time officers and committees will be elected. It was definitely decided at a preliminary meeting held last Friday night to form a beach club, arrangements having already been made to secure a club house. The building will be opened within a few days following the organization of the club.

Notice to Shipping.

The following notice to the fishing and shipping interests has been authorized by the commanding officer of Fort Caswell: "The commanding officer, Fort Caswell, desires that fishing and shipping interests be informed that there will be night firing at Fort Caswell during the period of June 24 to July 3, 1914. Vessels within eight miles of the fort during the above night period are requested to display all lights, that they may be seen and not be endangered from the firing."

SPOKE TO JAIL PRISONERS

Rev. Sidney Love Spent Busy Day Yesterday—Will Deliver Public Lecture Next Sunday.

Delivering a talk to the prisoners in the county jail yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, preaching a sermon on prison reform at the Brooklyn Baptist church at 11 o'clock and making a trip to the East Wilmington convict camp yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Sidney Love, secretary of the Carolina Prisoners' Aid Society and the State's leading advocate of prison reform, who is here for ten days in the interests of his work, spent a busy day yesterday.

Today Mr. Love will make a trip of inspection to all of the county prison institutions and convict camps. Next Sunday he will deliver a lecture to the citizens, the hour and place of the meeting to be announced later.

Mr. Love is accompanied on his visit to the city by Mrs. Love, who is also deeply interested in prison reform work, and who has accomplished much good work among the families and children of the State's convicts. Mrs. Love has personally visited every county jail in North Carolina, and is known as "the little mother of the convicts' children."

The planks in the platform of the Prisoners' Aid Society are set forth in the Golden Rule, published at Raleigh and edited by Mr. Love, as follows:

"That our prison camps and county chaingangs shall be made reformatory in the true sense of the word.

"Every prisoner to be compelled to work a certain number of hours each day and to be supplied with fresh, wholesome food.

"The abolition of corporal punishment, both in State prison camps and county chaingangs.

"The practice of keeping prisoners in county chaingang camps chained from Saturday evening till Monday morning to be abolished.

"That every penny that a prisoner earns above the cost of maintenance and cost to the State or county which is incurred for official supervision, be paid to his wife and family or any that were dependent upon him previous to arrest.

"A well-arranged, systematic parole law, giving the governor power to grant or refuse a request from any source, official or otherwise.

"And a classification of all criminals."

MR. EDWARD KEARNS HERE.

Staff Man of New York World Gathering Data for Article.

Mr. Edward F. Kearns, an industrial writer on the staff of the New York World, is in the city gathering data for an industrial article concerning the port of Wilmington and its features as a summer resort, the article being scheduled to appear in the issue of Sunday, June 28.

Mr. Kearns arrived in the city yesterday morning, accompanied by his stenographer and yesterday he made a trip of inspection down the Cape Fear river, in a launch tendered through the courtesy of Capt. Edgar Williams, the harbor master.

Today Mr. Kearns will make a trip over the fine roads of the county, and visit a number of points of interest outside the city, while Tuesday he will devote his time to gathering commercial statistics, educational data, etc. He expects to complete his work here Tuesday.

The article to be carried by The World will be illustrated with a dozen or more photographs of prominent places and buildings in and around the city.

FIREMEN HONOR THEIR DEAD

Impressive Memorial Service at Dock Street Christian Church Yesterday Afternoon.

In honor of their deceased comrades ,the Wilmington firemen held impressive memorial services at Dock Street Christian church yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. G. T. Adams, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist church, delivered the address. The services were attended by practically all the firemen of the city and their families together with a large number of their friends.

The service was opened with prayer by Mr. J. B. Huntington, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., after which Mr. Louis Williams read the 23rd Psalm. "Abide With Me" was then sung by the firemen after which the memorial address was made by Mr. Adams. The firemen then sang "Nearer, My God, To Thee."

Capt. W. P. Monroe, secretary of the local branch of the North Carolina Firemen's Association, then read the names of the six deceased firemen, whose names and positions held are: Eugene Jeffries, hook and ladder Co., No. 1; B. R. Russell, engineman of Company No. 1; J. N. Mohr, engineman, of Company No. 1; A. C. Peterson, Hose Company No. 3; J. T. Yates, superintendent of fire alarm; W. C. VonGlahn, volunteer fireman and secretary of the North Carolina Firemen's Association.

After the names of the deceased firemen were read, the parchment on which the names had been inscribed was placed on the altar and the firemen in the regular order of their rank beginning with Chief Schnibben deposited their bountonierres of forgetmenots upon the table.

Mr. Adams took as the basis of his address the 14th and 26th verses of the 12th chapter of Exodus. He paid a tribute to the memory of the deceased firemen and showed how fitting it is to keep alive their memory. While it is noble to honor the dead and entirely in keeping with the custom established even in the early days of Biblical history, the speaker said that he also wanted to bring as a message to the living that they live a life of self-sacrifice and heroic service.

While it is sometimes thought that true heroism is only to be found on the field of battle or in some terrible catastrophe, he said, this is a mistaken idea. That type of heroism is noble and worthy of all honor, he explained, but that which keeps true to the sacred mandates of duty in the daily routine of life is also worthy of as high an honor. He urged his hearers to live daily so as to meet the approval of the Master, whose life was one of service for His fellowmen. It is only by following His example that we can attain to that which he would have us become, he said.

Special mention was made in the prayer for Messrs. P. N. Fick and J. C. Carroll, who are seriously ill at their homes. Their comrades hope that they may be speedily restored to health and may be able to resume their accustomed stations in life. The service was closed with the benediction by Mr. Adams.

WILL ATTEND GREAT SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING.

Mr. W. W. Koch Elected Delegate From Wilmington Association.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Wilmington City Sunday School Association held yesterday afternoon, Mr. W. W. Koch was elected as the delegate from this association to the great Triennial International Sunday School Convention which will be held in Chicago June 23-30, inclusive. Rev. J. Walter Long, of Greensboro, secretary of the State association, met with the committee and a number of matters pertaining to the local association were discussed. Jos. W. Little, Esq., president of the Wilmington association, presided over the meeting.

Mr. Koch will leave next Sunday or Monday for Chicago and will be away for a week or ten days. Already enough delegates from North Carolina have signified their intention of going to insure a special car. This car will probably leave from Greensboro. A very attractive rate is being offered by the railroads, round trip fare from points in North Carolina ranging in price from $24 to $32.

Twenty thousand people are expected to attend this convention although only five thousand regular delegates will be seated in the Medinah Temple where the main sessions of the convention will be held. All other meetings will be provided for in ten other buildings that are being arranged for this purpose.

The International Sunday School conventions are by far the greatest Sunday school gatherings held on the American continent, having at issue the fundamental things that have made the Sunday school movement famous. The coming convention promises to surpass all previous conventions, closing three of the most eventful years in the history of Sunday school development in North America, and following closely as it does the great World's Convention held in Zurich, Switzerland, last July, which was pronounced the most significant religious gathering ever assembled.

The coming International convention will represent in its constituency one-half of the Sunday school population of the world, having as its field the entire continent of North America and the adjacent islands, with a Sunday school membership of 17,000,000.

Since the association held its last convention in San Francisco, 60,000 helpful conferences, conventions and institutes have been held under its auspices, reaching right down through its auxiliary association to the local schools, with a view to standardizing and vitalizing them according to the plans of the respective denominations to which they belong. In this way the association carries out in a very practical and effective way the ideas of a great federation for mutual benefit with all the affiliation points carefully worked out and proven to the satisfaction of the many denominations participating.

Will Establish Local Agency.

Mr. J. E. Levi, Southern manager for the Premier Motor Manufacturing Co., of Indianapolis, Ind., arrived in the city last night and will spend today here. He is seeking to establish a local agency for the cars manufactured by this well known company. There are already a number of agencies in the State and Mr. Levi expects to have selling agents in all the leading cities of North Carolina.

THEATRICAL

At The Bijou Today.

Yes—it's just one big surprise after another at the popular photoplay house, something seemingly bigger breaking out every day. And today will prove no exception from this rule, for the management has secured to head its mammoth program, a big 101 Bison, two-reel dramatic feature, "Cast Adrift in The Seas." This is a great big production in two full reels, and features such screen favorites as Marie Walcamp and William Clifford ,together with a big string of other notables in the world of the movies.

It's one of the most exciting stories of the times, abounding in spectacular climaxes, and is thrilling to the utmost degree. It will undoubtedly score a grand success at The Bijou today, as one of the best pictures shown in some weeks.

"The Joys of a Chaperone" is a rattling, scream in a Frontier full-reel comedy, and is a veritable scream from beginning to end. It contains some of the most ludricous and laughable situations ever shown in motion photography, and will be well enjoyed in Wilmington's biggest, coolest and most commodious theatre.

A mammoth Keystone comedy—you know what to expect—will end today's program, and promises to even outshine the many big Keystones that have previously been released. It's a rattling good number, one of the best, to those whose preference is for the comedy side of life, on the bill, and brings fittingly to an end a big day for The Bijou.

At The Grand.

Hear, ye, all theatre-goers. The Grand Theatre, conceded to be the handsomest moving picture theatre in the South and the place of solid comfort, the air being electrically chilled and the freest of ventilation holding forth, will start off another big week today. The opening show of the week is a red letter affair, made up of a glittering galaxy of films and presented for the small admission fee of 5 cents, afternoon and night. When one beholds the daily new offering at The Grand he or she no longer wonder at the fame this popular theatre enjoys.

Today's great list of the rarest of films, direct from the biggest film concerns, is lead by a wonderful Edison two-part special, "The Unopened Letter." It is an intense story of domestic life and the tribulations of a great city. There is a spectacular court room scene that is more thrilling than the one in "Madame X" or "The Butterfly on the Wheel." In the cast will appear such notables as Edward Earle, Bessie Learn, Margaret McWade.

Kalem's "A Salt Mackerel Mine," which is a happy medium between laughter and sorrow, is also a star today, and it will also present a cast of big favorites, including Billie Rhodes, J. Lindley Phipps, Richard Chandler, Richard Coburn and William Ackerson. Indeed a great list this.

Today at The Grand will also witness the Wilmington debut of the Hearst-Selig periodical film, which has created such a sensation. It is a film chronicler of current events and is something most elaborate. Don't go shy on it.

SERMON DREW LARGE CROWD

Mr. Haynes Sticks to Assertion That Cathloics Changed Sabbath

A large congregation last night heard the second of two sermons by Mr. Carlyle B. Haynes, at the tent at 11th and Market streets, on the subject, "Who Changed the Sabbath," the first having been delivered Friday night.

Mr. Haynes quoted copiously from historical works, both pratestant and Cathloic, purposing to prove his statement that the Sabbath was changed from the last day of the week to the first day by the Catholic Church, which statement, made some time ago, was challenged last Sunday by Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

The services conducted by Mr. Haynes will continue through this week, and tonight he will deliver a sermon on the subject of the New Testament Sabbath, in which he states he will read and comment on every passage in the New Testament which contains any reference at all to the first day of the week.

FORMAL OPENING OF Y. W. C. A. TONIGHT.

The "House Warming" at the Young Woman's Christian Association, No. 114 North Fourth street, which will take place this evening from 8 to 10 o'clock, will be attended by a large number of friends and members and promises to be a most enjoyable affair. As the guests arrive they will be met on the front porch by Mrs. W. H. Pemberton. They will be shown through the house by Misses Carrie White and Ida Black and their respective committees.

Music will be furnished by Mrs. C. E. Taylor, Jr., and refreshments will be served by Miss Annie Kidder. The officers of the association will be present and will assist in entertaining the guests. Miss Ella Clark, the general secretary, will also assist in making everyone feel at home."

Wrightsville Beach

The Lumina Specials yesterday again proved to be a popular feature with visitors to Lumina.

Mr. E. J. Hale and little son, of Fayetteville, were guests at the Seashore Hotel yesterday.

A shower at the beach yesterday afternoon ran many promenaders off the board walk. It didn't last long.

There must have been a lot of hungry people at Lumina yesterday for the lunch counter man exhausted his supply of food early in the afternoon.

According to the records of the Tidewater Power Company, approximately 3,000 people were transported to and from Wrightsville Beach yesterday.

The boys of Fifth Street Methodist church will have a picnic at Lumina tomorrow afternoon. A special car will leave Front and Princess at 2:30 o'clock.

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer: "Mrs. James P. Stowe and daughters, little Misses Belle Ward and Frances will leave within a few days for Wrightsville Beach, to spend several weeks."

Record-breaking crowds were again in evidence at the beach yesterday. There were a large number of out-of-town visitors in addition to the several thousand that went down from the city.

On account of the unusual oppressive heat the surf proved to be most attractive yesterday afternoon and there were more than 400 bathers in at Lumina. There were also a large number in at The Seashore.

Verily the times do progress. Yesterday was Sunday but that board walk near the entrance to the Oceanic Hotel had to be finished on time, and all day yesterday a workman was busy putting on the finishing touches.

The first convention of the season for Wrightsville Beach will be the South Carolina Cottonseed Crushers' Association which will convene at the Seashore Hotel tomorrow. It is expected that there will be a hundred or more visitors in attendance. The members will begin arriving tonight.

Among the guests at the Seashore Hotel yesterday were G. E. Hall, R. P. Lucius and Miss Eva Parker, Fayetteville; Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Perkins and John D. Durham, Burgaw; W. W. Davis, Lumberton; E. F. Chisholm and E. Lewis, Hamlet; W. G. Jones, Kinston; Mr. and Mrs. W. Dubois and J. E. Bryant, Wilson, and M. D. Tindal, Charlotte.

Included in the arrivals at the Seashore Hotel yesterday were Walter D. Nash and J. M. Reed, Atlanta; B. P. Meeks, Florence, S. C.; J. W. Patterson, Atlanta; A. H. Jewett and S. T. Henderson, Lexington, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Banks, Charlotte; Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Williams, Atlanta; A. J. Wiggins and T. T. Miller, Augusta, Ga.

The Oceanic Hotel opens today at noon for the season. The building was open yesterday in order that the cool breezes of the beach might give it good airing. Dinner will be served today and Elam's orchestra will furnish music. Mr. Claude Elam, director of the orchestra at the Jefferson Hotel in Richmond, will have charge of both the Seashore and the Oceanic Hotel orchestras. This will make the third season that his orchestra has played at The Seashore.

Mr. Don Richardson and his orchestra gave another one of his popular Sunday afternoon concerts at Lumina yesterday afternoon. There was no set programme, the selections played being those that the audience expressed themselves as preferring to hear. There was a large crowd present and everyone was highly pleased. Last night a splendid programme was rendered which was heard by even a larger audience than that of the afternoon, every available seat in the large pavilion being taken. The selections especially worthy of notice were the clarinet solo by Mr. Schmuler, the "Ballet Egyptien," and the Reverie by Schumann. The last number on the programme was excerps from the opera "Martha," in which were interspersed several popular selections.

LOCAL DOTS.

—Chesnut street, between Fourth and Fifth, on the north side, is being given an up-to-date granolithic sidewalk, much to the gratification of its frequent pedestrians.

—Robert Spicer, a colored boy, was arrested early yesterday morning by Policeman J. F. Jordan on a charge of having cut another colored boy slightly with a knife. He was lodged in the city prison.

—The Catholic summer school for colored people will open this morning at 9 o'clock. The object of the school is to help children who have been promoted conditionally, so that they may make their classes in the fall and also to help the backward in some of their studies.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

—Mr. J. H. Yates, of Chadbourn, was a guest at The Orton yesterday.

—Mr. W. L. Hill, of Raleigh, was in the city yesterday, a guest at The Orton.

—Mr. J. M. Council, of Wananish, was a visitor in the city yesterday, a guest at The Orton.

—Rev. J. Walter Long, of Greensboro, secretary of the North Carolina Sunday School Association, is in the city in the interest of Sunday school work. He will leave this afternoon for Greensboro.

DR. M'CLURE AT ST. ANDREW'S

Congregation Worships in Lecture Room Last Night

While the interior of the main auditorium of Saint Andrew's Presbyterian church is undergoing extensive repainting and decoration, which will be finished in a short time, the regular services are being held in the lecture room, where Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., the pastor, was heard by two congregations which well filled the room yesterday morning at 11 o'clock and last night at 8 P. M.

At the night service Dr. McClure announced that during the summer months, the Sunday School would meet at 9:45 A. M. instead of 4 P. M., as heretofore and that the evening service would be in charge of the Society of the Christian Endeavor, beginning at 8 o'clock, until time for the offering, after which time the pastor would preach the sermon as usual and conclude the service, thus combining the two. Pupils of the Sunday School and others interested are asked to make note of the changes

Dr. McClure preached a very strong sermon last night from the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, 13th and last verses: "And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity". He explained the circumstances under which this first epistle of Paul, the Apostle, to the Corinthians, was written and gave the broader definition to the word "charity"—that of love, the love of God and for one another; developing his subject along the lines that faith and hope are the means and that love in the last analysis is the end and therefore the greater of the three. Practical applications of the work of charity upon the lives and characters of men were given and the sermon closed with a fervent appeal to each and everyone to try to cultivate this spirit of love and charity, so essential in the plan of salvation.

Dr. McClure announced that on next Sabbath morning the regular communion would be observed and the prayer service on Wednesday evening would be preparatory to that occasion. On Thursday evening the St. Andrew's Brotherhood will gather for its monthly supper, business and social session.

STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

Wilmington and Eastern Carolina Physicians on Programme.

Wilmington and Eastern Carolina physicians will occupy a prominent place in the proceedings of the 61st annual convention of the State Medical Society to be held in Raleigh Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, according to the official programme which has just been announced. Dr. J. M. Parrott, of Kinston, the president, will deliver his annual address on the opening day which will be opened with prayer by Rev. J. C. Wooten, of Edenton Street church. Dr. Lupton Pittman, of Fayetteville, will read a paper under the physiology and chemistry section on Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon the section on surgery and anatomy will be in charge of Dr. Chas. T. Harper, of Wilmington, chairman. Dr. J. L. Nicholson, of Richlands, is assistant chairman. Dr. Harper will read a paper entitled "Safety First," and another paper under the same section will be by Dr. Paul Crumpler, of Clinton.

Tuesday night the same section will be continued with papers by Dr. T. M. West and Dr. J. F. Highsmith, of Fayetteville, while Dr. B. R. Graham, of allace, will also read a paper. Under the anatomy section Dr. R. N. Duffy will read a paper on "Appendicular Liver."

Under the section of ateria Medica and therapeutics and pediatrics, "The Overlooking of Pyolitis As a Cause of Fever in Infancy" will be the subject of a paper by Dr. Edward J. Wood.

Wednesday afternoon under the head of pathology and microscopy, Dr. C. W. Stiles, of Wilmington, will read a paper on "The Flagellate Diorrhoeas;" Dr. J. M. Northington, of Boardman, will speak on "Filarial Elephantiasis in North Carolina," and Dr. Wood, of Wilmington, will speak on "The Occirence of Yaws (Framboesia) in the United States," while Dr. C. P. Bolles, also of Wilmington, will read a paper on "Amoebic Dysentery."

Thursday morning under the general head of "Gynecology," of which Dr. W. B. Murphy, of Snow Hill, is chairman, Dr. Robert B. Slocum, of Wilmington, will read a paper on "The Relation of the Ductless Glands to Gynecology."

Dr. K. G. Averitt, of Cedar Creek, is chairman of the section on obstetrics, and the papers include subjects by Dr. R. B. Hayes, Fayetteville; Dr. Seavey Highsmith, Fayetteville; Dr. A. B. Croom, Maxton; Dr. J. V. McGougan, Fayetteville; Dr. L. B. Evans, Clarkton, and Dr. A. S. Rose, Fayetteville.

PRESS ASSOCIATION

No Curtailment of Plans for a Genuine Wilmington Welcome

While local newspaper men and members of the Chamber of Commerce Public Entertainment Committee were much disappointed yesterday at the news that Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels could not attend the State Press Association at Wrightsville Beach next week, there will nevertheless be no curtailment of the programme for a most hospitable entertainment of the 150 other editors, their wives and distinguished guests who will be here on that occasion.

Members of the Press Finance Committee and of the Public Entertainment Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, after devoting today and tomorrow to a canvass of the business men of the city for support in their effort for a proper entertainment, will meet Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock and arrange further the details of their work. It is safe to say that the meeting of the editors here next week is more important to the port of Wilmington and its business men than any other organization in the State and that the editors will go away from Wilmington with the traditionally favorable impression of the Cape Fear's hospitality, goes without saying. Southport was quick to realize the importance of the visit of the editors, and, as previously stated, the quill drivers will spend an entire day as the guests of that splendid little city.

Negro Woman Seriously Cut.

Sarah Story, a colored woman, was badly cut in the back of her neck at her home in an alley near 11th and Market streets last night about 9 o'clock. The wound is supposed to have been inflicted by Charlie Young, colored, who made his escape and had not been located late last night. He is described as a tall dark ginger cake negro. The injured woman was taken to the James Walker Memorial Hospital for treatment. The wound, while serious, was not thought to be dangerous. Lizzie Smith, colored, who was with Young shortly before the cutting occured, was arrested by the police as a material witness. She would say but little about the matter last night.

SMALL RAINS AT WARSAW

First Precipitation In Nearly Two Months—Crop Benefited

Warsaw, N. C., June. 14—A shower, the first rain that has fallen here in nearly two months, fell Friday night and although not enough to thoroughly wet the ground, it was sufficient to allow the farmers to transplant their tobacco plants which had died from the lack of moisture. This work was done yesterday. Another good shower fell last night thoroughly watering the plants and the farmers are a great deal more optimistic over this crop than they have been in some time.

Farmers in this county have been digging the Irish potato crop and find that it has been injured so much by the drought that not more than half the average yield is being obtained this is also true of all the early truck crops, but now that the drought has been broken they hope to have better results with the later crops both truck and staple.

A peculiar incident in connection with the rain was the sand storm which preceded it. About 20 minutes before the rain the wind arose reaching a very high rate. Sand was blown through the air so quickly that it was impossible to see more than a few feet away. This is the first occurence of this kind ever known in this section.

PROSTRATION FROM HEAT

First of Year Reported in Kinston—Negro Farm Hand

(Special Star Correspondence)

Kinston, N. C., June. 14.—The first prostration from heat in this section this year was reported from the edge of Greene County yesterday. Calvin Wilson, a negro farm hand, suffered a stroke while at work in a field, and was expected to die until this morning, when his condition was slightly improved. This section has experienced temperatures ranging from 99 to 101 every day for nearly two weeks

Western Judge Reprimands Youth for Careless Gun Play

(New York Press)

The judge in a Western town had declared he would stop the carrying of firearms in the street. Before him appeared for trial a tough youth charged with getting drunk and firing his revilver in a crowded street.

"Two dollars and a half and costs," said the judge.

"But, your honor," interposed counsel for the prisoner, "my client did not hit anybody."

"Why, you admitted that he fired the gun?"

"Yes, but he fired it into the air," explained the lawyer.

"The fine stands," said the judge. "He might have shot an angel."

GLIMPE INTO FUTURE LIFE

Rev. F. B. Clausen in Able Discourse Explains Bible Teaching on This Subject.

That the Bible plainly teaches that there is both a Heaven and a hell, and that any other doctrine is contrary to the teaching of Christ on tris important question, was the declaration of Rev. F. B. Clausen, on the theme, "A Glimpse into the Future Life," at St. Paul's Lutheran church last evening. The speaker took for his text the 24th and 25th verses of the XVI chapter of Luke.

He showed how universal is the interest in this important subject and yet the scriptures give only here and there any suggestion as to what is beyond the grave. However, in the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, the speaker declared that Christ had made his teaching clear and explicit, and that there can be no doubt tha there is both a Heaven and a hell. The Bible is our only guide, and we must depend upon it for our information, he said.

No description of the future state except in a general way is given in the Bible, the speaker continued. Regarding Heaven, it is stated in the parable that Lazarus was comforted and in Revelations is stated again that God shall wipe away all tears. This would indicate that the redeemed shall forget their sorrows and their troubles. Continuing, the speaker showed how much of the grief that is experienced in this world is because of the memories of the past. While our bodies change entirely once in every seven years, according to the teaching of science, yet our memories do not change.

While the descriptions of Heaven in the Bible are not explicit, neither is any detailed description of hell given, he said. However, Christ thoroughly believed in a place of punishment and taught it clearly, he declared. In passing, the speaker condemned in no uncertain terms the International Bible Society, which interprets the Bible to teach that there is no hell.

"They would have you believe that they know more about this subject than Jesus Christ, himself, knew," the speaker said. "We must believe in the old-fashioned hell or deny Christ's teaching in God's word. It is clearly shown in the text and in other places in the Bible that it is a place of torment."

The speaker did not believe that either Heaven or hell could be described in actuality, because with the coming of death the material part of the body perishes. But the descriptions of hell used in the Bible indicate clearly that it is a place of intense suffering, he said.

There are only two conditions of future being, according to the Bible, and it nowhere says that there is a purgatory or an intermediate state. In the parable of Lazarus and the rich man, it is stated that there was a great gulf, the speaker continued, and when we die our destiny is fixed.

The speaker did not believe that the sin of the rich man was in having great possessions, nor is there any suggestion that he had gotten what he had dishonestly. Apparetly he was one of those rich tramps, of which there are so many in America today. He had simply abused the talents which God had given to him to use in making the world better. He was selfish and had forgotten his fellow man.

And the lesson that comes to us, he continued, is that we must not, in our pursuit of wealth, allow ourselves to become hardened and unsympathetic. Never before could money be made so easily, and never before were the needs of the world so pressing. By bringing to our attention the needs of the world, God would teach us a lesson of love and kindness to our fellow man. One can be poor and at the same time greedy, and can also be righ and greedy, and between the two the speaker rather thought that the latter was preferable.

In conclusion, the speaker emphasized the fact that we have the Bible as our guide and that we should make it our standard. He urged his hearers not tot be deceived by so-called mediums of spiritualims, who claim to be able to look into the other world.

To Look and Feel Bright in Hot Weather

This is the season when she who would have a lily-white complexion should turn her thoughts to mercolized wax, the firm friend of the summer girl. Nothing so effectually overcomes the soiling effects of sun, wind, dust and dirt. The wax literally absorbs the scorched discolored, freckled, withered or coarsened cuticle, bringing forth a brand new skin, clear, soft and girlishly beautiful. It also unclogs the pores, removing blackheads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off mornings, will gradually improve the worst complexion.

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up for the afternoon or evening, bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. You'll find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. It is fine for smoothing out wrinkles even the deeper ones.

CONDITION OF COTTON CROP

Crop Still Backward But on the Whole Shows Improvement—Conflicting Influences.

New York, June 14.—The market during the week has been under the influence of conflicting factors, which naturally tended toward an irregular price movement. Early weakness in the new crop options gave way later to strength on insistent complaints of boll weevil infestation in Texas, coupled with reports of a continuation of hot, dry weather in Arkansas and throughout the central and eastern portions of the belt, including South Carolina. So far as weather is concerned, notwithstanding advices to the contrary, the developments of the week have been favorable with perhaps one exception—Arkansas. Clear, warm weather has prevailed over the greater part of the Southwest and the general run of Texas reports indicate rapid improvement in the situation in that State.

One correspondent has said that State. One correspondent says of weeds and grass, that plants look healthy and are growing like magic, that replanting where necessary is being pushed with feverish haste and that, provided there is a late frost date, the chances are in favor of a good-sized crop. As suggested in these advices, it was unreasonable to assume that the Texas situation was beyond repair. Mention has already been made of similar wet conditions in 1900, notwithstanding which there was a good harvest of cotton, and we also find by referring to the files of 1908 that like conditions to those this year prevailed then and yet cotton painted as late as June 19 made three-quarters of a bale to the acre. There is no question, however, that the backwardness of the season is a handicap and as a result the crop in Texas will be practically on the defensive during the whole growing season. Much more encouraging than the optimistic advices from the Southwest was the news that the drought had been broken in the Carolinas—the last spot in the eastern section which had been suffering for rain. Although in some sections where needed, rains have not been extensive, the fact remains that moisture has fallen, and even though temperatures continue high, conditions show improvement over those of a week ago. So far as the Delta is concerned prospects are brilliant and the planters in that section are enthusiastic over the promise. On the whole it appears as if the recent popular pessimistic sentiment was founded on exaggerated opinions of crop damage, and that with anything like normal growing conditions for the balance of the season a satisfactory harvest may be anticipated. This is apparently the opinion in conservative trade quarters. There is at the moment no intention on the part of converters to enter the market at the current level of values. According to their way of thinking 12 3-4c is manifestly an extremely high price for new crop options at this season of the year, even with a start as poor as that indicated by the June condition report. Later a demand situation may develop justifying present quotations, but solely from a supply standpoint, based on existing conditions, a crop of even very moderate proportions has been largely discounted.

HENRY CLEWS & CO.

UPWARD TENDENCY IN NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Continued Reports of Drought in Eastern Belt—Poor Crop Accounts.

New Orleans, June 14.—The cotton market had an upward tendency this week on conitnued reports of drouth in the Eastern belt, poor crop accounts and stories of a late start in Texas and rather sensational telegrams regarding the prevalence of the boll weevil in Mississippi, Alabama and portions of Texas. The buying from the long side put prices to the highest levels of the week on Friday, when the trading months were 18 to 23 points over last week's final quotations.

The week closed at a net gain of 7 points, except on July, which was unchanged.

Offsetting the bullish news from the fields was considerable liquidation of long cotton. Bears considered that the market was over-bought and technically in a weak position, and put out considerable short cotton on the theory that a reaction was due. The market held up fairly well under the selling, although no wide advances were scored. The lowest prices of the week were n Monday, when the market stood 6 to 8 points under last week's close.

This week the question of rain in the Atlantics will loom up large. Showers of any consequence over Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and the Carolinas would stimulate heavy selling, while lack of moisture would be a bullish factor of importance and would cause continued support to be given the market.

The trade this week will attempt to get full information regarding re-planting and in some sections the first planting. It is generally acknowledged that seed which does not go into the ground this week will never be planted. News regarding this work may have an important effect on the fluctuations of the week, for it will have a direct bearing on the question of acreage.

TO AVOID TYPHOID FEVER.

Precautionary Measures Taken at Mt. Olive.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mt. Olive, N. C., June 13.—In an effort to avert any possible danger of an epidemic of typhoid fever during the summer months, the city commissioners here ordered all real estate owners to equip every residential lot within the city limits with sanitary water closets; and those of our citizens who haven't taken the typhoid serum treatment heretofore, are urged to do so at once, as it is well known that these are two precautionary measures that must be taken, if the dangers from typhoid fever are to be reduced to a minimum.

Following only a few days' illness with stomach disorders and other complications, Pattie, the 18 months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Brock, who reside six miles from here, in Duplin county, passed away at their home Friday morning. The remains were interred in the family burying ground Friday afternoon, Rev. W. B. Rivanbark, of Teachey's, conducting the funeral services.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW

Repression of Activity in Exchange Caused by Expectation of Freight Rate Decision.

New York, June 14.—The New York stock market attributed the repression of activity last week to expectation of the freight rate decision. But the torpidity, common to all great financial markets, was accompanied by steadiness, indicating satisfaction with the progress toward solution of market problems.

Adjustments in the foreign financial positions were important. New York contributed, with a record week's export of gold.

The indication that London's necessities for gold might be met after the satisfaction of the French demand was a factor in tranquilizing sentiment abroad.

Another factor was the promise of an early French loan and the unlocking of other government refundings dating from the Balkan war. This tie up of capital is called the prime influence in the world-wide stagnation of investment demand.

Local money conditions were still easy. The government estimate of a wheat crop, 150,000,000 bushels in excess of last year's record yield and the poor promise for crops abroad, point to heavy exports.

June demand for steel products indicated a turn in the market. Returns of building permits for leading cities showed a trend toward improvement. Demand for copper was stimulated by reduction of prices.

Better conditions were reported in New England textile authorities. The prospects of plentiful harvests inspired confidence in a later trade revival.

WARSAW WANTS UNION DEPOT.

Four Duplin Townships to Vote on Railroad Bonds.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Warsaw, N. C., June 13.—The board of trade, of this town, has appointed Messrs. J. H. Carter, R. D. Johnson, and R. C. Pridgen as a committee to confer with Mr. A. H. Newell, superintendent of this division of the Atlantic Coast Line, and Mr. R. H. Turnbull, president of the Atlantic & Carolina, with a view of building a union station for these two roads at this place. If this committee is successful, it will mean an end to a condition that has existed here for over a year, and has been not only a drawback to the office force in transacting the business that the railroad does at this point, but one that has also been a source of great inconvenience to the traveling public as well.

No limitations were placed on the committee as to what size the new building shall be, and as Mr. Newell has signified his willingness to meet the committee with only Mr. Turnbull to be heard from, it seems that the matter which has caused so much talk during the past few months is now on toward a settlement.

The Presbyterian Missionary School Institute for this district will be held in the Presbyterian church here on Wednesday, the 17th. Miss Isabell Arnold, of Elkin, W. Va., who is sent out by the Foreign Mission Committee of this denomination, will conduct the institute.

The board of commissioners of Duplin county, has authorized that an election be held in Hallsville, Beulaville, Limestone, Wolfscrape townships to ascertain if the people are in favor of issuing $25,000 worth of bonds to be used in helping to build the Central Carolina railroad. This road is to be built from Coats, N. C., via Dunn, Clinton, Mount Olive and on to Swannsboro.

CLEWS' FINANCIAL REVIEW

Stock Market Continues Neglected —Prevailing Ease in Money— Crop Outlook Gratifying

New York, June 13, —Sofar as transactions are concerned, the stock market continues neglected. Nevertheless the general tone exhibits a healthy and hardening tendency. Prices have now undergone a very slow and gradual advance of about 3 to 4 points, which naturally induces some realizing by timid holders; but apart from desultory selling of this sort there is practically no offering of stocks.

The market appears to be thoroughly sold out. Liquidation nas been prolonged and thorough; so that weak spots have been practically elimated. Psychologically, to use an overworked expression, the situation is improving. There is less apprehension and more confidence than a month ago. The Clayton anti-trust bill, is likely to pass, but in a materially modified form before it emerges from the Senate. When uncertainty growing out of law making will disappear and business will have chance to adjust itself to know conditions. Congress, after a phenomenally long period of activity, is beginning to be really anxious for adjournment. Hot weather and the vacation period are fast approaching. The past two summers have been exceedingly strenuous ones in Washington; and the Administration, having accomplished far more than was expected in the direction of tariff, banking and anti-trust refrms, can afford to rest satisfied on its record of fulfilled promises. Reports are current that the Interstate Commission will shortly render its rates decision, and that the roads will be allowed some concessions. The Supreme Court decisions of the week were also of a satisfactory nature; the most important being that which asserts the supremacy of national control of interstate commerce rates as against State control. In other words, as the Court correctly said, the railroads need a single master, not many. This is an encouraging development; inasmuch as it will relieve the railroads of many of their perplexities, and probably insure them more just treatment than has been accorded in the past under State regulation, which has too often been of a confiscatory tendency.

Another element which has aided confidence on this side of the Mississippi has been the prevailing ease in money. No better business tonic can be found than an abundance of cheap money available to those having good credit. It is possible however that the period of abnormally cheap money is nearing an end. Europe has already taken over $50,000,000 of gold from this country since the first of January, and the outward movement has not yet ended. This Week's shipments alone amounted to over $17,000,000—a record week. Apartently foreign demands are still unsatisfied and law maney rates here facilitate withdrawals. Moreover, our merchandise imports continue to increase while exports diminish; and since Europe shows no present disposition to buy our securities, the balance against us thus created can only be settled by gold shipments. Fortunately we have an ample supply of the precious metal, which is always being augmented as home production; and the outward movement as a whole has by no means been injurious and should cause no uneasiness; especially as it will materially help the situation abroad. Furthermore, the early opening of the reserve banks will facilitate credit operations and make us less dependent upon our gold supply. Vehy shortly crop demands will begin to assert themselves and should the volume of business increase, as seems not unlikely, the demand for money will expand and rates may somewhat harden. No stringency however is in sight, and for the time being nothing further is anticipated than a check upon exceptional ease.

The general business outlook is more promising. Supplies of merchandise of nearly all kinds are unquestionably light because of the slowing down which recent apprehensions necessitated. With the recovery of confidence and with the promise of a good harvest, increased activity is only a matter of a few weeks. It must be remembered that industrial production has been abnormally restrained for several months. The steel trade for instance has been running for weeks on 60 per cent of copacity; largely because of enforced railroad retrenchment which cannot be indefinitely prolonged. The railroads will soon be compelled to enter the market more freely, and with the assurance of good crops and better rates will undoubtedly place some liberal equipment orders. In fact it would couse no surprise if the steel industry were to show one of its customary sharp rebounds before the end of the current year. In the textile trades there is also a better feeling. Both cotton goods and woolens are comparatively scarce and exceedingly strong. Interior distributors report a good demand for nearly all classes of fabrics. Importations of foreign goods are coming in more freely; but the percentage of these compared with the nation's product as a whole, is not large enough to have any serious effect. Nevertheless the new tariff has a potential influence; inasmuch as any advance in prices here would invite a rapid increase in importations under existing conditions. The crop outlook continues most gratifying. There was a slight drop during May in the condition of wheat, but the Government report still indicates a yield of about 900,000,000 bushels, which is much the largest yield ever recorded. Early threshing reports of winter wheat show an unusually large yield per acre. Making liberal allowances for probable deterioration in spring wheat, the wheat harvest is as certain as can be to prove large and a most important stimulating influence. Reports concerning the cotton crop are not entirely satisfactory, but the outlook for corn is favorable and nearly all the important fruit crops show a condition above the average.

The outlook for stocks favors a further hardening of values. As shown above, improving political conditions, prospects of a favorable rate decision, certainty of moderate ease in money, the early inauguration of the new banking system, the encouraging harvest prospects and the strong technical condition of the security market are all in favor of better prices. The principal offsets at the moment are heavy gold exports and temporary postponement of the rate decision. The situation abroad has been materially improved by liquidation and gold imports from the United States. At the moment there is na serious uncertainty except Mexico. Something unexpected or disastrous may occur there, but the unshrinking determination of the Government thus far to refrain from actual hostilities is reassuring. We must accustom ourselves to unrest in Mexico, and leave that country to work out its own salvation; confining ourselves to offering whatever advice or assistance may prove acceptable to that unfortunate country. Mexico is a nation of wonderful resources, and will undoubtedly enjoy a period of great prosperity when the present difficulties have been adjusted. Meanwhile, our true policy should be ane of disinterested friendship, and not one of interference.

WOODMEN OF KINSTON HOLD A CELEBRATION

Morris Sheppard, of Texas, the Chief Speaker.

Big Dinner and Parade Were Features of Biggest Event in History of Hollywood Camp—Memorial Day Exercises.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., June 14.—The biggest event in the history of the local camp of Woodmen of the World attracted members of the fraternity from many places to Kinston today. Morris Sheppard, United States senator from Texas, was the speaker this afternoon on the occasion of the annual memorial day exercises of Hollywood Camp of the Woodmen. The Woodmen, several hundred strong, including the more than 200 members of Hollywood Camp, were served dinner in a tobacco warehouse in North Kinston at 12:30. Senator Sheppard dined with the host.

At 2:30 o'clock the wielders of the axe commenced a parade, headed by a military band, which ended at Maplewood cemetery at 3 o'clock. An unveiling ceremony and short service was held in the cemetery, after which the procession returned to the warehouse in North Kinston, where at 4:30 the notde visitor made his address.

Senator Sheppard, who succeeded Bailey in the Senate from Texas, is national banker of the Woodmen of the World, and an enthusiastic member of the order. He was introduced to the Woodmen and hundreds of others who gathered in the warehouse by Elisha B. Lewis, of Kinston, a member of the national council in charge of jurisdiction W, which includes North Carolina.

Senator Sheppard eulogized the Woodmen's dead, glorified the aims and achievements of Woodcraft, and predicted splendid results and great growth for the order in coming years.

Woodmen from Newbern, Goldsboro and almost every other lodge within a radius of 50 miles aggregated a large number were entertained by the Kinston membefs.

TWO MEN AND TWO BOYS ARE DROWNED.

Men Lost Lives in Attempt to Rescue Boys Drowning in River.

Raven, Va., June 14.—E. B. Gilliam, superintendent of the Raven coal mine here; W. J. Lewis, a hotel proprietor; his son, Raven, aged 12, and "Sonny" Bowers, of Madison, W. Va., aged 12, were drowned in the Clinch river near here this afternoon, while their wives and mothers sat helpless on the river bank powerless to render assistance.

The party were out for a day's pleasure on the river. While the elders fished, the two boys went for a swim. When they stepped into a hole more than their depth they were soon in difficulties.

Unheeding the frantic appeals of the women, the two men went to the aid of the drowning boys. Unable to swim all were drowned.

SOME HOPE FOR MEN HURT IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT.

Two Young Men Suffer Severely From Injurie Received at Newbern.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Newbern, N. C., June 14.—Physicians attending the two young men who were injured in a motorcycle accident Thursday gave out some hopes for the recovery of Edward Bowden, of this city, and George Cabell, of Danville, Va., the injured. The two men are confined at a local hospital and at times both are rational while again they go into stupors which lasts for hours. With many broken bones and internal injuries the two cases are being watched with a great deal of interest by local medical men. Cabell's relatives arrived today to be at his bedside.

UNIDENTIFIED NEGRO STRUCK BY TRAIN.

And Dies As Result of Injuries Received—Happened Near Ruggles.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 14.—Atlantic Coast Line passenger train No. 89 yesterday afternoon struck and killed a young unidentified negro near Ruggles, a point about six miles north of Enfield. The young negro was knocked from the track, suffering injuries from which he died in a few minutes. The train was stopped and he was taken on the train and brought to Enfield, where his body was turned over to the station agent. Up until 3 o'clock this afternoon the remains had not been identified, and there is nothing in the pockets of his clothes to indicate who he was.

ACCEPTS PASTORATE.

Rev. I. A. Caudle, of Snow Hill, Goes to Louisville, Ky.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kineton, N. C., June 14.—Rev. I. A. Caudle, who was pastor of the Baptist church at Snow Hill three years ago and is well known in this section, has accepted the pastorate of the 36th and Grand Streets Baptist church in Louisville, Ky., one of the most important churches there.

MEN OF MEDICINE WILL MEET IN RALEIGH TUESDAY

Several Hundred Doctors Expected to Gather for Annual Convention.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 14.—The North Carolina Medical Society meets in sixty-first annual session in this city Tuesday morning to continue in session through Thursday with a programme that teems with interest for members of that profession in special technical papers and demonstrations and in pleasurable social features.

The addresses of welcome Tuesday morning will be made by Mayor James I. Johnson and Governor Craig. The response to the addresses of welcome will be made by Dr. D. J. Hill, of Lexington. The annual address by the president, Dr. J. M. Parrott, of Kinston, will also be delivered at the initial session of the convention. The remaining sessions will be devoted to special papers, addresses and demonstrations on subjects of particular interest to the members of the profession. Three hundred or more physicians are expected to attend the convention.

BATTLESBORO STATION ROBBED

Over Twenty Gallons of Whiskey Taken by Two Negroes—Both Arrested by Rocky Mount Police.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 14.—During the early morning hours the express office and station at Battleboro were broken into and robbed by two negroes, who reached the town on a hand car, which they had stolen from a section master near this city. After removing 20 gallons of whiskey from the station they loaded it on the car and returned to a point near this city where the car was "ditched" and walked to the city, bringing their booty.

Patrolmen Taylor and Denby, of the local police force, had reason to suspect the men as they approached the city this morning, carrying the whiskey in huge sacks on their backs, and they were detained by the officers.

After being locked up shortly after sunrise this morning they took the officers into their confidence and explained that the station had been robbed and then told how it was done. The station agent and police at Battlebor were notified and made an early investigation, finding the theft just as reported. The negroes gave their names as Early Howard and Dennis Bynum. They are being held in the police station here, and it is expected they will be returned to Battleboro this afternoon.

ANOTHER HOMICIDE AT BURGAW

Negro Shot and Killed Another There Early Yesterday Morning—Had Gambled All Night.

Burgaw, N. C., June 14.—Burgaw seems destined to keep in the limelight in an undesirable way, as another tragedy was enacted here this morning when a negro named John Smith shot and instantly killed another negro named John Wilkins, near the heart of the town.

From what can be learned these men were gambling all during the night in a hause a few steps from the one where the shooting took place and had a falling out over something connected with the gambling. One charging the other with robbing him, this was followed by a pistol shot but it appears that no damage was done at that time. Just about daylight this morning they both left the house and in a few minutes a gun shot was heard and the negro Wilkins was found dead. Smith skipped out at once and has not been seen since.

The clerk appointed W. M. Hand, Esq., special coroner who held an inquest over the dead body today, the jury finding that the deceased came to his death at the hands of John Smith.

Hargrove Walker, the negro at whose house the gambling is alleged to have been going on, has been suspected of running a blind tiger and 14 pints of whiskey were found in a drawer in his house this morning when a search was made after the shooting affray. His wife says that the dead man left it there yesterday and said he was going to take it to Bouneman's Bridge today. Hargrove has departed for parts unknown also and he will probably stay away for his own good and the good of the community.

Inspection Proves That Wiring About City is Faulty—Other Matters.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., June 14.—According to the report of the electrical engineer of the Southeastern Tariff Association much of the electric wiring of Wilson is so faulty that the association is proposed to increase insurance rates 25 per cent. unless conditions are changed immediately. The report states that the condition of much of the wiring is worse than it was a year ago. Following the receipt of the report the Board of Commissioners appointed Mr. R. J. Grantham as inspector and he will pass on all future wiring

City Clerk Hinnant reports 27 new buildings being erected without permits and these in addition to the large number of buildings granted permits within the past 90 days.

City Auditor E. A. Darden has completed his examination of the books of the city clerk and reports the total expenditures of the city for the year ending June 1, 1914, as $87,322.07. The income for the same period was $98,176.63, leaving a net balance of $10,854.56.

City Clerk Hinnant has tendered his resignation but the board has declined to accept it and will endeavor to persuade Mr. Hinnant to continue in charge. His service has been of the highest type and his office is in splendid condition.

Many complaints have been made to the city officials of the failure of the ice wagon drivers to weigh ice and as a result City Attorney Hassell has been instructed to prepare an ordinance requiring a change of practice.

GET-TOGETHER MOVEMENT MAKING SOME HEADWAY

So It Seems as Viewed From Greensboro—Meeting

(Special Star Correspondence)

Greensboro, June. 14.—The Get-Together Movement of the Republican and Progressive parties is apparently meeting with some measure of success in Buncombe county the spirit of union between the parties is said to be strong, even the veteran Republican, Col. V. S. Lusk, it is said, being among the advocates of such a the movement.

C. H. Cowles, of Wilkes county, in a latter comes out strongly in favor of the movement. He is State Chairman of the Roosevelt Republicans. It is anticipated that a meeting of all the various Republian and Progressive factions will have representatives at a meeting soon to be held in Greensboro, and that at that time some definite program will be outlined.

INVESTIGATING COAL RATES

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., May 14.—This week Special Examiner Richard T. Eddy and a score or more of freight rate and traffic experts and lawyers have been here conducting an investigation into the matter of freight rates from the coal fields of West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee into the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida.

The investigation is a general inquiry instituted by Inter-State Commerce Commission as to rates on coal in the territory mentioned. At first it was thought the evidence could be taken in three days, but it has already taken a week and there will probably be a continued session in Washington.

E. J. McVann, of Omaha, Neb., one of the foremost rate and traffic experts in the country, has been one of the principal witnesses. He testified that the old standard for coal rates based on that from Cold Creek, Tenn., to Charlotte at $1.85 per ton and made prior to 1890 was abselete and entirely too high under present conditions. He further held the opinion that the new route over the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio to Spartanburg, S. C., a newer and shorter route and one whose cost of operation was economical should be substituted for the old standard.

J. S. Griffith, of Raleigh, a rate expert produced by the North Carolina, gave testimony that proved of decided interest as showing some of the arrangements made between different roads in regard to freight revenues. His testimony developed the fact that the Southern and Seaboard railways both charged $2.35 per ton on coal hauled from Pochahontas, West Virginia, to Charlotte but instead of stopping the car of coal at Charlotte the car was sent on through the city 21 miles to Gastonia, where it was turned over to the Piedmont & Northern line, which hauled it back to Charlotte and got 40 cents out of the $2.35 rate from the coal field. The Seaboard shipped its carload on through Charlotte and out to Pinoca seven miles from Charlotte and was turned over to the P. & N., who hauled it back to Charlotte and also got 40 cents out of the rate of $2.35 from Pochahontas. It has been claimed both by the Seaboard and the Southern that they could not haul coal from Pochahontas to Charlotte for less than $2.35, whereas it appears that they actually haul it for $1.95 per ton. The rate to Gastonia from Pochahontas is $2.55.

Charles E. Trull, white, 24 years old, was this morning declared by a jury guilty of murder in the first degree, after a trial that has lasted three days. He was accused of murdering and robbing Sidney Swain, a respected groceryman here, as the merchant was going from his store after midnight on the 16th of May. The evidence was entirely circumstantial and was very conclusive, the verdict being generally anticipated and meeting with universal approval.

A sensational incident occurred at the trial yesterday, when the prisoner went to sleep during the argument of the attorneys and Judge Shaw, of Greensboro, presiding ordered the sheriff to summon the county physician to see if he had been "doped."

No evidence sustaining this belief was found until the deputy sheriff discovered a small box in the prisoner's cell last night that had contained morphine. An investigation today revealed that D. B. Paul, one of the defendant's attorneys, had given him the opiate, with no bad intentions, however. Judge Shaw made the attorney stand up in court and receive a public reprimand, however. The investigation was part of the process of argument for a new trial by the defense.

CHIEF JUSTICE CLARK IN A CONTROVERSY

Question of Building Concrete Walk Around New Monument Discussed

(Special Star Correspondence)

Raleigh, N. C., June. 14.—In a statement issued by Chief Justice Walter Clark concerning a contest that ison over the question of putting a concrete walk from the Bagley monument across the lawn to the and around the back of the Horne Confederate monument to North Carolina women, he denies that he is in any way opposing the wishes of the ladies in insisteing that such a walk should be constructed . The Chief Justice insists that the design of the monument with an inscription on the back of the pedistal is such as to require such a walk way if this inscription is to be read and he predicts that if such a concrete walk is not provided that the people will wear a walk of their own in the lawn in going to the back of the monument, while to construct such a walk of granolithic would avoad an unsighly foot path and at the same time provide a short cut from the west and south entrances to the State House direct to the new State building. This is where the phase of the contest comes in that includes the charge that the Chief Justice is making the fight to save himself an eighty yard walk each way in going to and from his Halifax street residence. The Chief Justice says that the building of this walk is merely held up until the committee on the Women's monument has built its walk way around the back of the manument.

Over against this view of the case taken by the Chief Justice there is the contention of Mr. Augustus Lukeman, designer of the monument that the walkway should not be built and a very general opposition by the members of the Woman's Club indicated by protests that are being filed with Governor Craig.

HOTEL AND FARM PROPERTY CHANGE HANDS AT WALLACE

New Tobacco Warehouse Nearing Completion—Rain at Last

(Special Star Correspondence)

Wallace, N. C., June. 13.—The big auction sale of the J. R. Kennedy farm near here and the Boney Hatel property was pulled off very successfully Friday afternoon, by Burton Brothers, auctioneers. The property all sold well, Mr. Robt. James, of Chinquapin, bought the J. R. Kennedy farm and Mr. Paisley Boney bought the Boney hotel. There was some right lively bidding on the hotel, and but for the 21-months lease, which Mr. C. E. Hussey holds on the hotel, the boys would have made it more interesting.

The new tobacco warehouse here is nearing completion. and will be ready in ample time for the coming tobacco season. This warehouse will be managed this year by Mr. W. J. Yarborough, of Mullins, S. C., and Mr. W. E. Merrett, of this place. The old warehouse will also be run by some one.

The tobacco acreage in this section is cut off considerably on account of the drough. it being difficult to get the plants to live after transplanting.

The long looked for, and very much needed rain came Friday afternoon, it certainly came as a blessing to the farmers, because the crops were suffering very much from dry weather.
